Laying it on the line

The first shock of the new year came early on August 26. The realization that summer was over sooner this year and that the bus came fifteen minutes earlier hit most students hard.

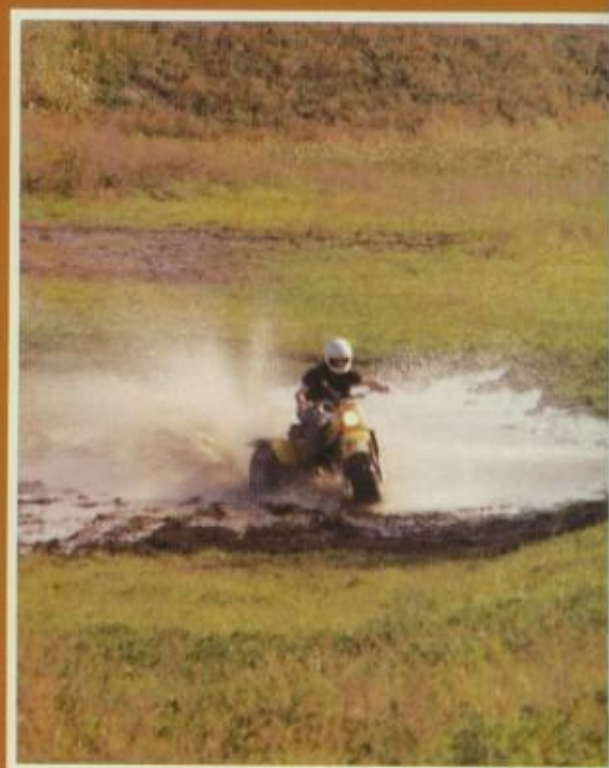

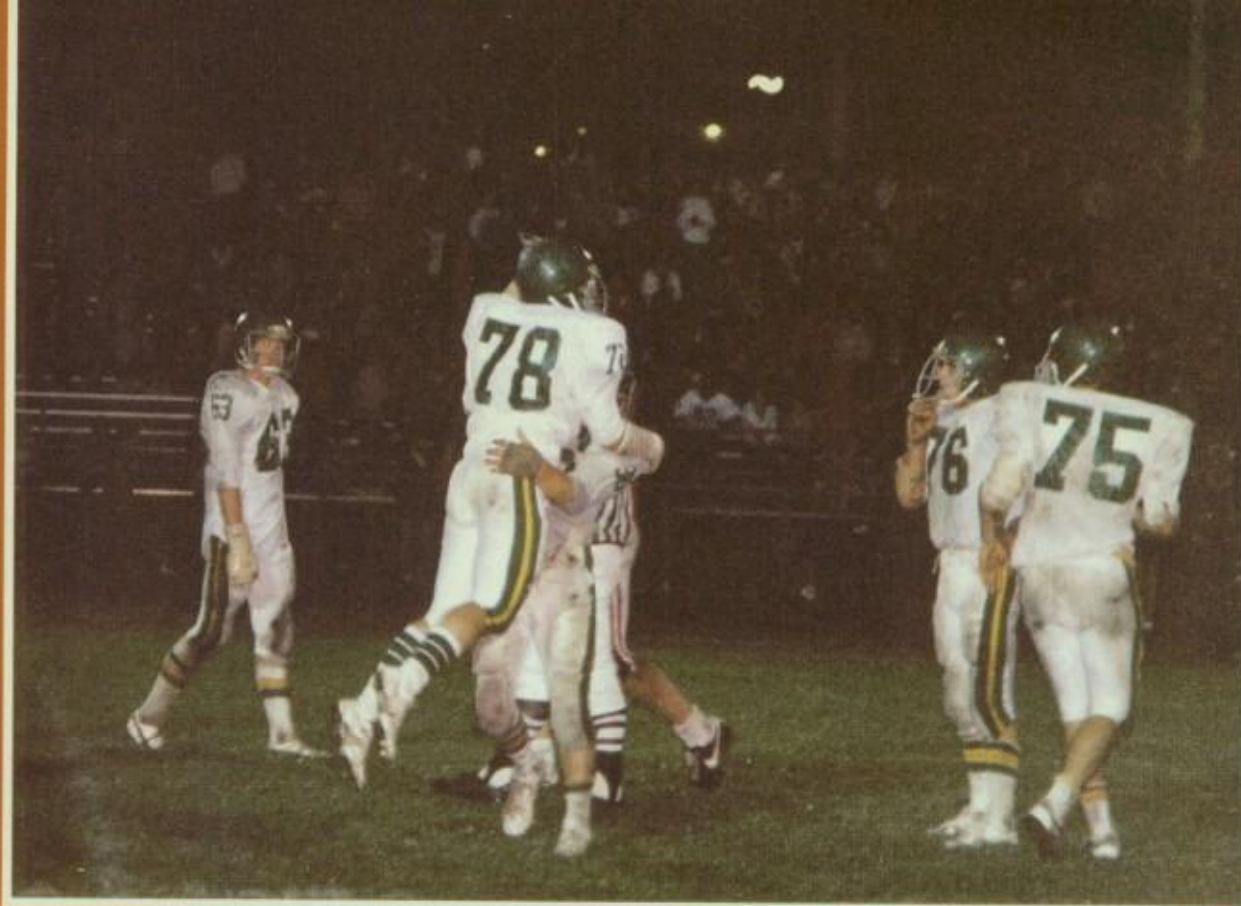

Overcrowded hallways, mile-long lunch lines, and jam-packed classrooms were part of the shock felt by returning Mounds View students. The lifelines of most MV students received a jolt when the 82-83 school year began.

Because of last year's budget cuts, many aspects of school life changed. A new principal and many new teachers reflected this change. Overcrowded classes frustrated both students and teachers. Students also had to adjust to long lines, crowded lockers, and overpopulated hallways. The appearance of freshman students, junior high teachers, and old Johanna lockers in the basement created a wave of apprehension throughout the school.

The cost of living in MV went up also. Snack break, lunches, and school concerts all increased in price. The crunch was noticed by all students. Those who played sports had to pay a participation fee. Although many grumbled about the cost of the fee, most were glad sports had not been cut.

In spite of all the chaos, many changes were for the better. The added number of students greatly increased school spirit and created a sense of unity and camaraderie among all.

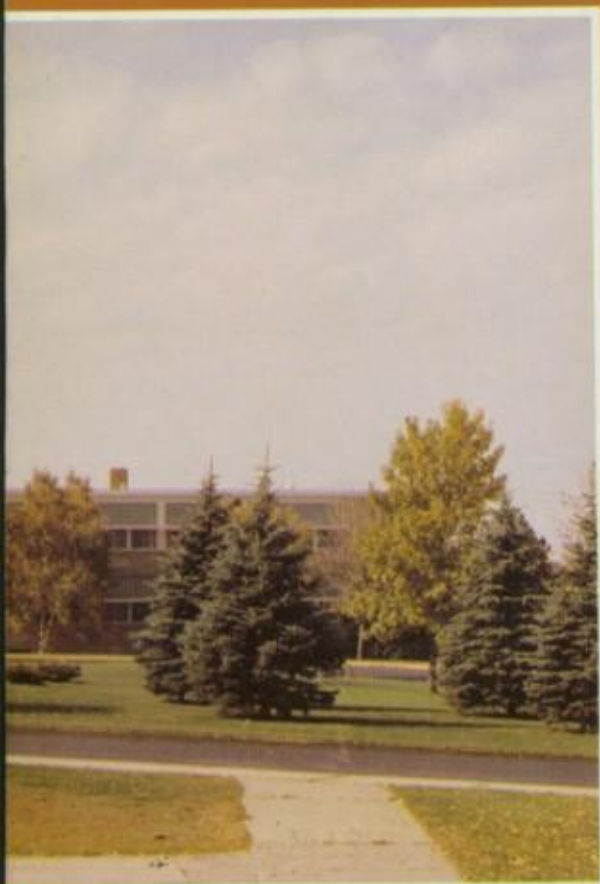

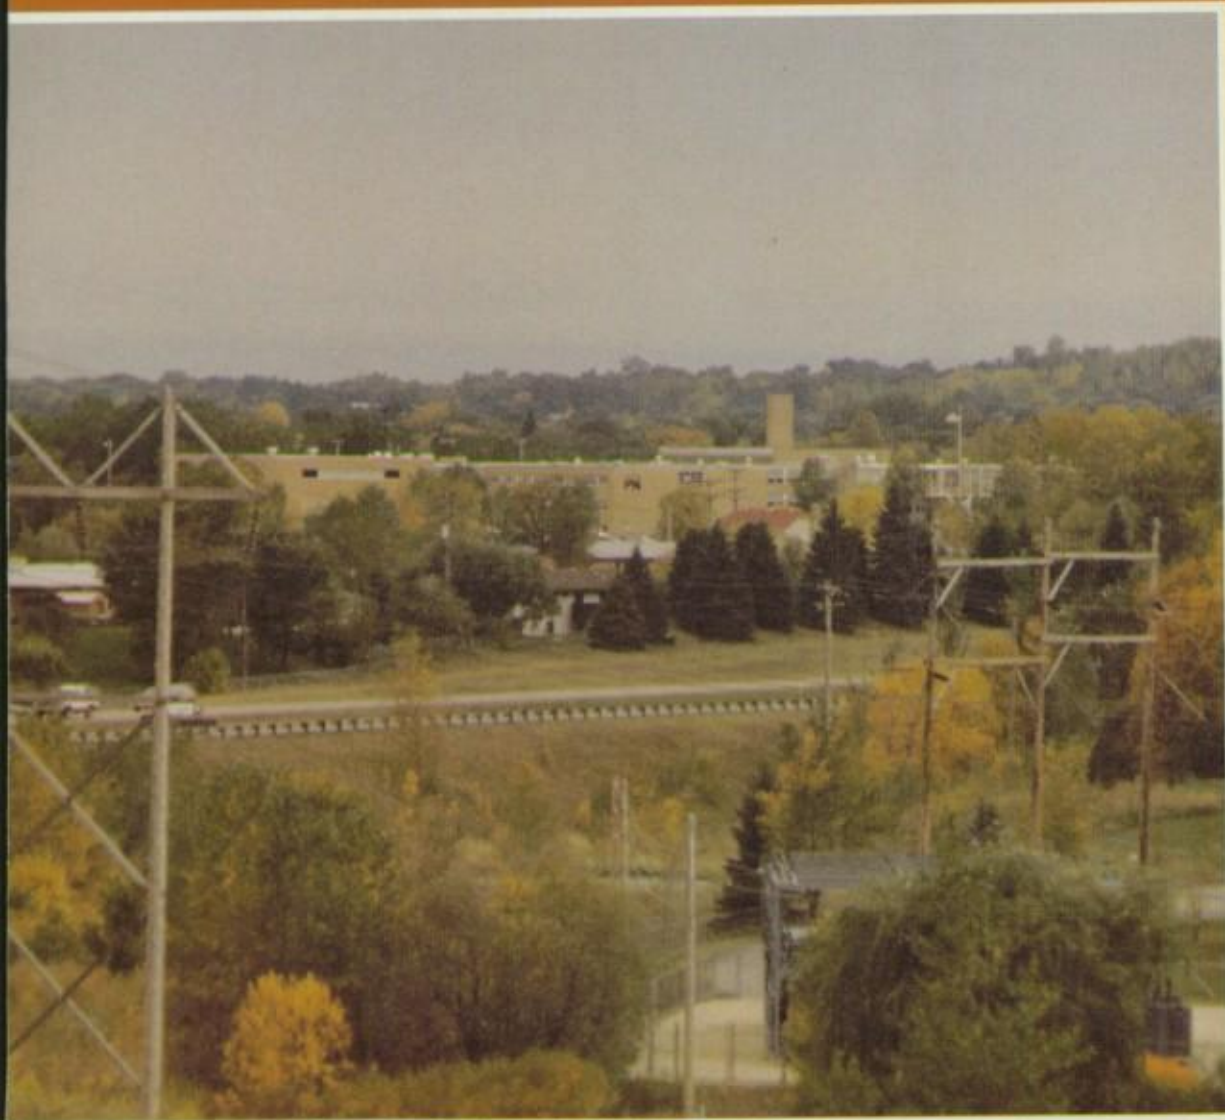

Fall's heart beat

Fall is nature's transition from summer to winter, and a student's transition from summer vacation to school. It was an exciting season at Mounds View with the Friday night football games where students rallied their spirit to cheer the teams to victories. Filled with Homecoming, Halloween, Sadie Hawkins, and parties, fall was the season to spend time with friends. A week-end drive to Stillwater or Pine City provided many with a view of fall's beautiful landscape. Hunting gave some of the Stangs a chance to get away to enjoy the season.

While nature was changing its seasons, Mounds View was changing its lifestyle. As nature slowly shed its layers of leaves and colors, we began to gather our coats and sweaters as the dreaded winter rapidly approached. Students no longer gathered in the circle drive but instead huddled closely to talk and laugh with their friends in front of the library.

The tradition lives on ▲ Kara Albertson — Kara kept busy during the fall, cheerleading for varsity football. She also is an avid racquetball enthusiast and enjoys biking. Kara likes to sing and play the piano as well. She also was a member of the Student Council and secretary of the senior class.

▲ Ben Haines — Ben enjoys participating in a number of outdoor activities, a few of which include camping, fishing, and water skiing. Ben's favorite class is physical education, and he was a member of the tennis team. Ben would like to attend dental school.

► Emily Moses — Squash and tennis are just a few of the sports Emily enjoys. She also enjoys downhill skiing. During her spare time, Emily is actively involved in Young Life. Emily would like to attend the University of California at Berkeley.

► Tony Patz — Being a starter on the varsity football team as well as being on the hockey and track teams, Tony kept busy. Among his other interests are reading and fishing. Although his plans are not definite, Tony would like to attend college.

◀ Lynn Gustafson — Lynn is a sports enthusiast and was a member of the tennis ◀ Eric Canfield — Eric kept busy by participating in football, downhill skiing, and baseball. In his spare time, Eric enjoys water skiing and fixing cars. He hopes to attend the University of Wisconsin — Stout.

▲ John Woolfrey — As president of the Student Council and Managing Editor of the school newspaper, John kept very busy. John was also on the tennis team.

▲ Penny Boyum — A few of the things Penny enjoys most are downhill skiing, acting, and teaching aerobics. Being a cheerleader for football also kept her busy. Penny said she really enjoys the people at Mounds View and plans to go to St. Olaf.

◀ Carrie Conlin — Carrie stayed busy during the fall by playing soccer. She also likes to play the piano and go downhill skiing. Carrie hopes to attend St. Benedict's.

◀ Greg Osborn — Sports that are a test of his endurance are the ones Greg likes best. He was involved in cross country, cross country skiing, and track. He enjoys juggling and magic. Greg hopes to attend U of M's Institute of Technology.

Where did all those

It was difficult to walk down the congested halls without stepping on a pair of boat shoes or perhaps bumping into an Ocean Pacific shirt. On those cold days many people relied on leg warmers to keep those muscles loose enough to get them from class to class.

Who could forget those $4.00 movies such as "E.T.," "Poltergeist," or "Fast Times at Ridgemont High?" There were other things to gobble up Mounds View dollars like $8.00 records such as Rush, "Signals" or The Suburbs, "Credit in Heaven." Of course $12.00 concerts like "The Who," "Heart," and "Fleetwood Mac" were also memorable.

Students enjoyed some of their favorite songs such as "Libertine," and "You Better Hang Up" on Stereo 101, KQ92, and 99½ FM.

At noon most people enjoyed those delectable treats from the cafeteria like pizza, wiener winks, and Mexican haystacks for 95¢. The more finicky and gutsy students frequently slipped past tight campus security for a $6.00 pizza from Pizza Hut or perhaps a quick bite at Pasquale's. Many had to temporarily quench their vehicle's thirst on the way back to school with gas at a deadly $1.30 a gallon.

A quick glance at the parking lot showed that many people found it more enjoyable to drive to school than to ride the cold, crowded, school bus.

Whenever possible, students tried to escape by going to Taylors Falls, camping at various state parks, biking around the Twin Cities, or skiing at Wild Mountain or Welch Village.

Students feel pulse beating after 2:15

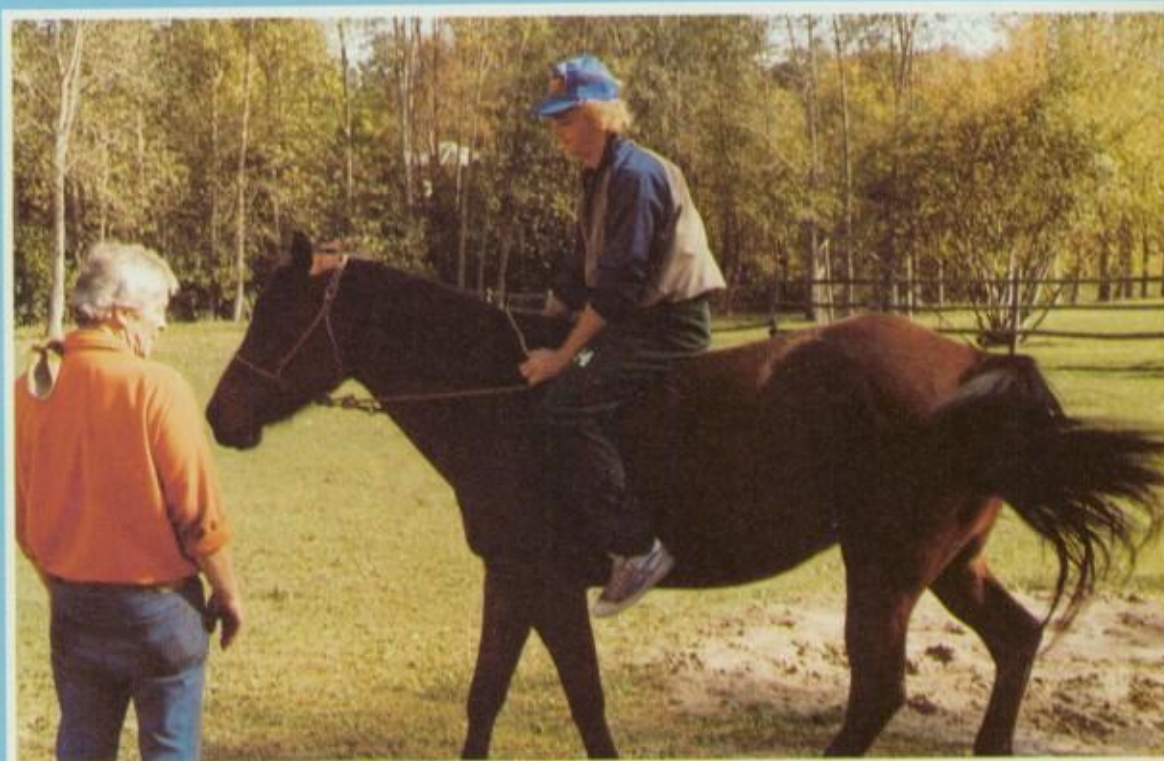

Bonfires, dates to a movie or out to eat with a boyfriend or girlfriend, intramural soccer or football, religious church groups, and just relaxing with friends were all part of life outside high school. Although M.V. went through many dramatic changes, the excitement of weekends and having a good time did not change.

Everyone anticipated the 2:15 bell on Friday afternoon. By 7:00 people were ready to go to the football game against Ramsey, out on a date to see "Pink Floyd the Wall," or to a party at a friend's house, and some unfortunately were at their job at Rosedale just waiting to get off work at 9:00.

One special gathering for the weekend was "The Party." Party had several definitions. One was a group of friends at a house watching "Rocky III" on a RCA video machine eating Doritos and Picante dip. The other included a keg and loud music by the Stones at a friend's house or backyard.

The rest of the weekend could include working on the job: Town Crier, Sports Image, Hauser's; doing Physics homework; playing soccer or hockey with friends; being lazy; talking on the phone; watching "Love Boat," sleeping; driving to Wild Mountain or Aften Alps to ski for the day; going to the cabin on Cross Lake; and "chowing" on a McChicken at Mac's next to Flaherty's.

Week night activities included of course the Tuesday night $1.50 movie at Maplewood, "E.T." or "An Officer and a Gentleman," and dragging a friend over to help study for the Trig test. Eating out at El Toritos and attending a Young Life meeting were also fun.

Sunday night was spent recuperating and organizing for the week ahead.

Security shocks MV students

Have you ever felt the need for the security that comes from sharing a locker with four of your friends or sitting in classrooms with up to 40 students? Then passing through the doors of Mounds View was certainly welcome.

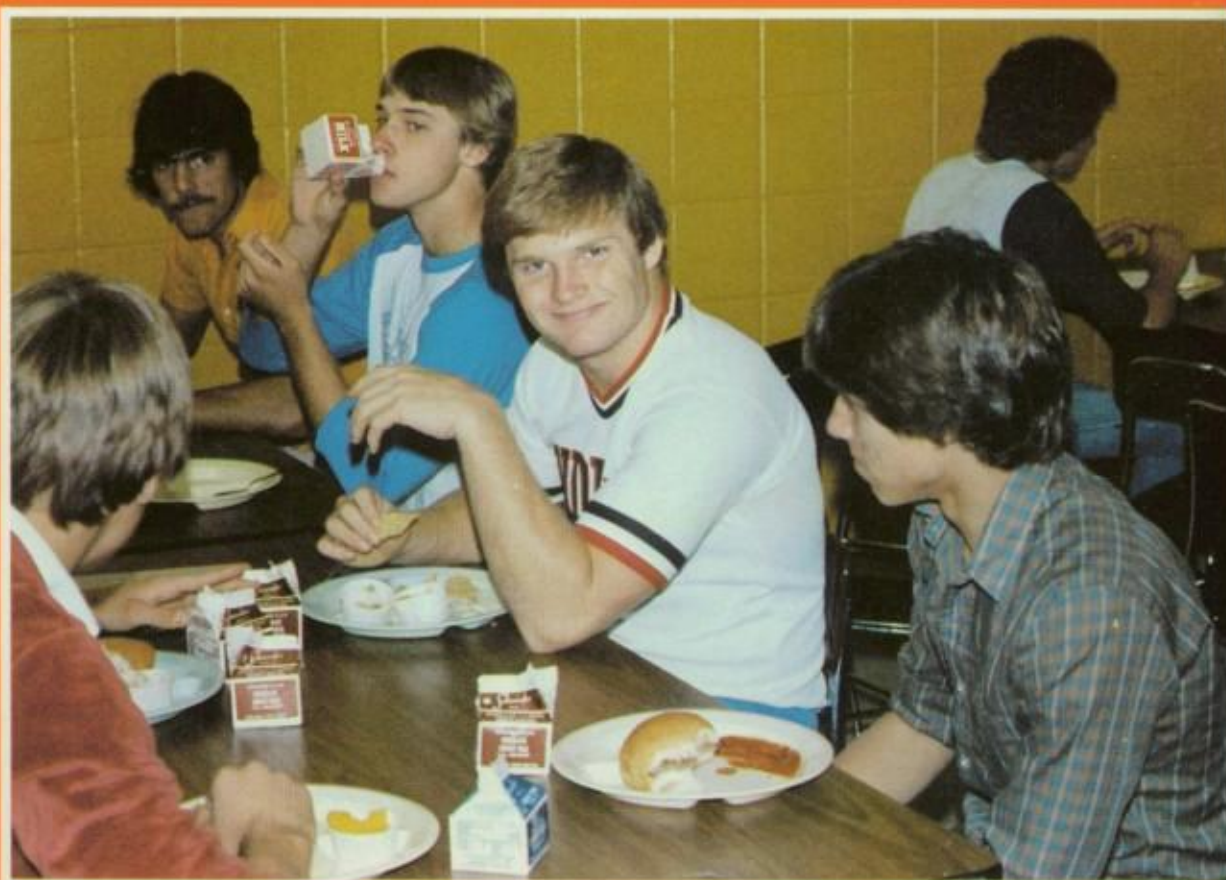

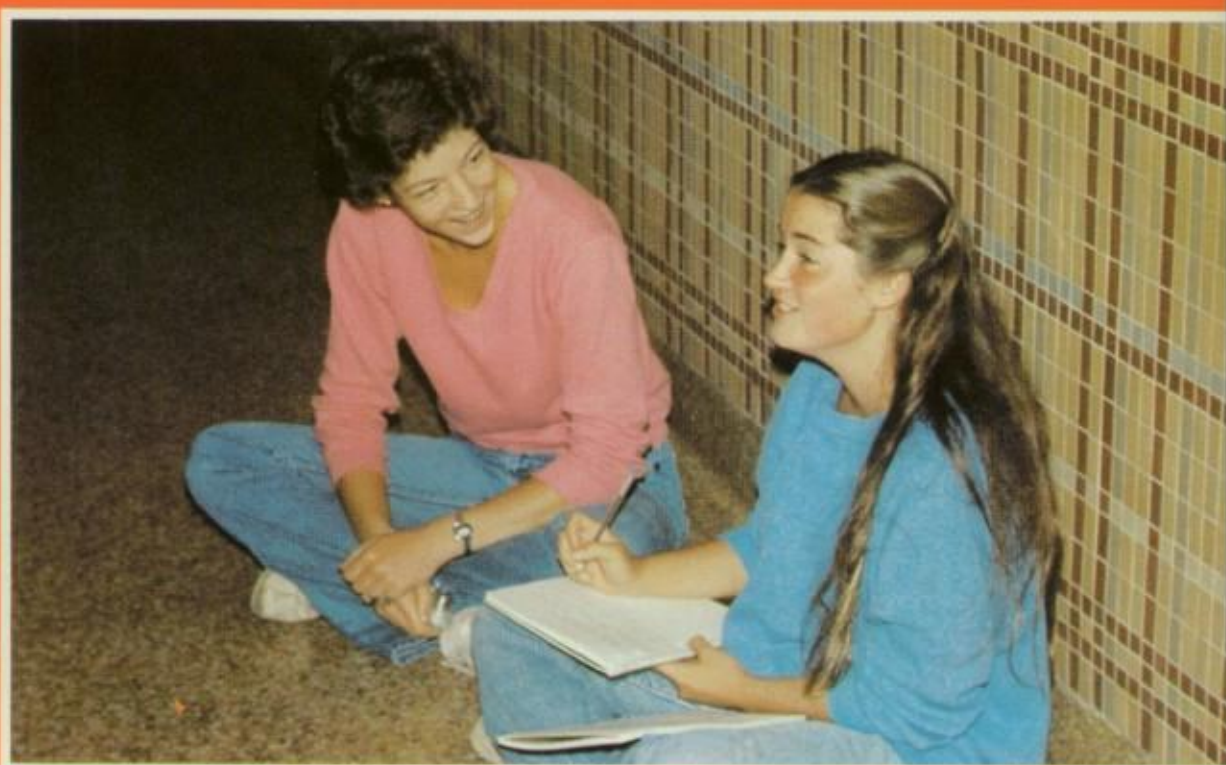

With the addition of the freshman class last fall, every student and teacher surely felt the shock.

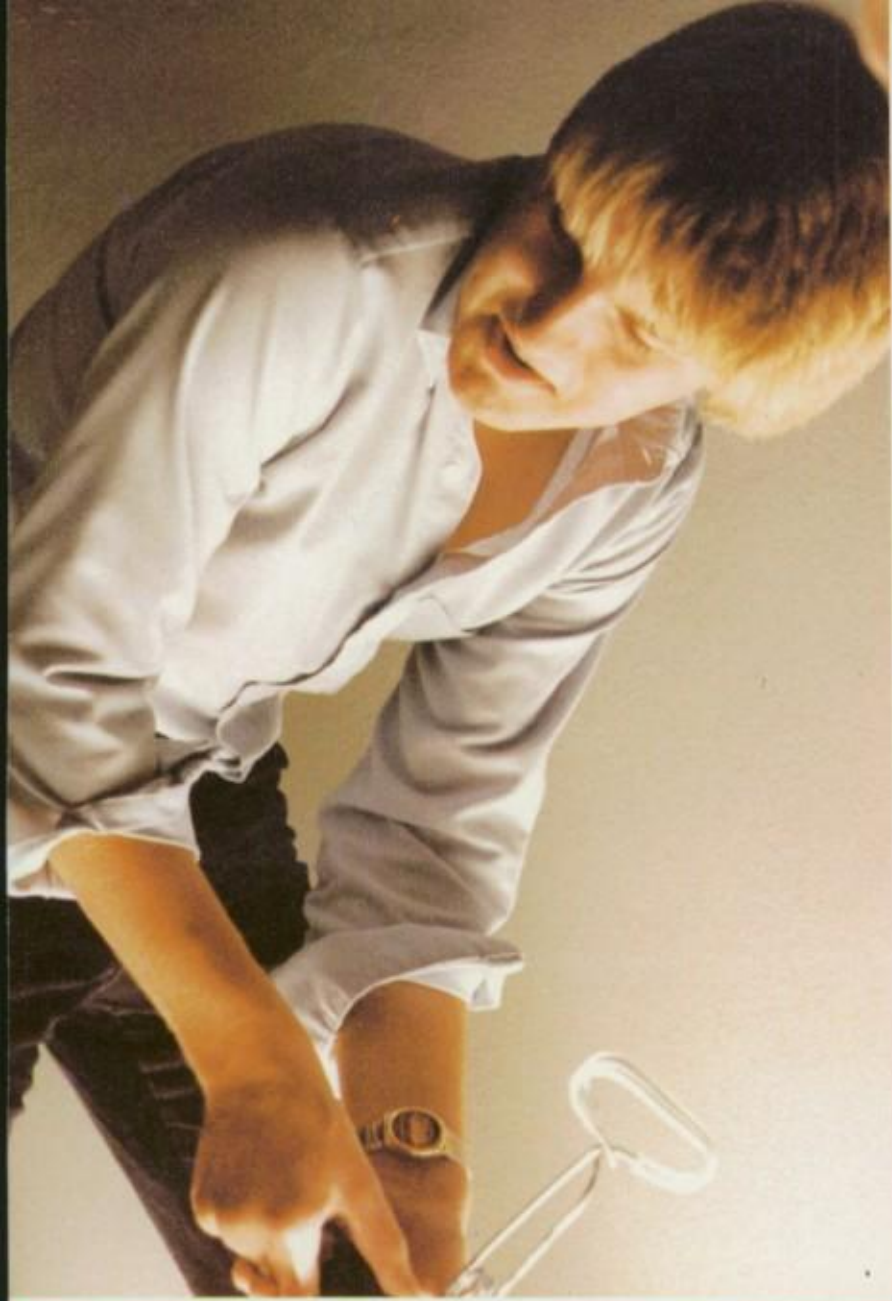

It was part of every student's life this year. For example, the halls were so crowded that we were lucky if we could make it to class in the time expected. If you couldn't make it to class on time, then you would spend another ten minutes in the office waiting for a pass to class.

When break came, we settled for a crowded place to spend it. Most students seemed to prefer sitting in front of the library talking with their friends. The hungrier ones sat in the cafeteria consuming cookies and rolls (those that could find a place to sit down and eat!).

After break came the quieter part of the day. Students got around to hitting the books and listening to lectures all hour long. Most of us lived through the oversized class sizes and sharing a textbook with two other people.

Lunch let us get away from the routine. Most were satisfied with the food in the cafeteria, but the increase in the lunch ticket seemed to discourage some people from eating at all. But 500 more ninth graders caused more than the usual confusion at lunch.

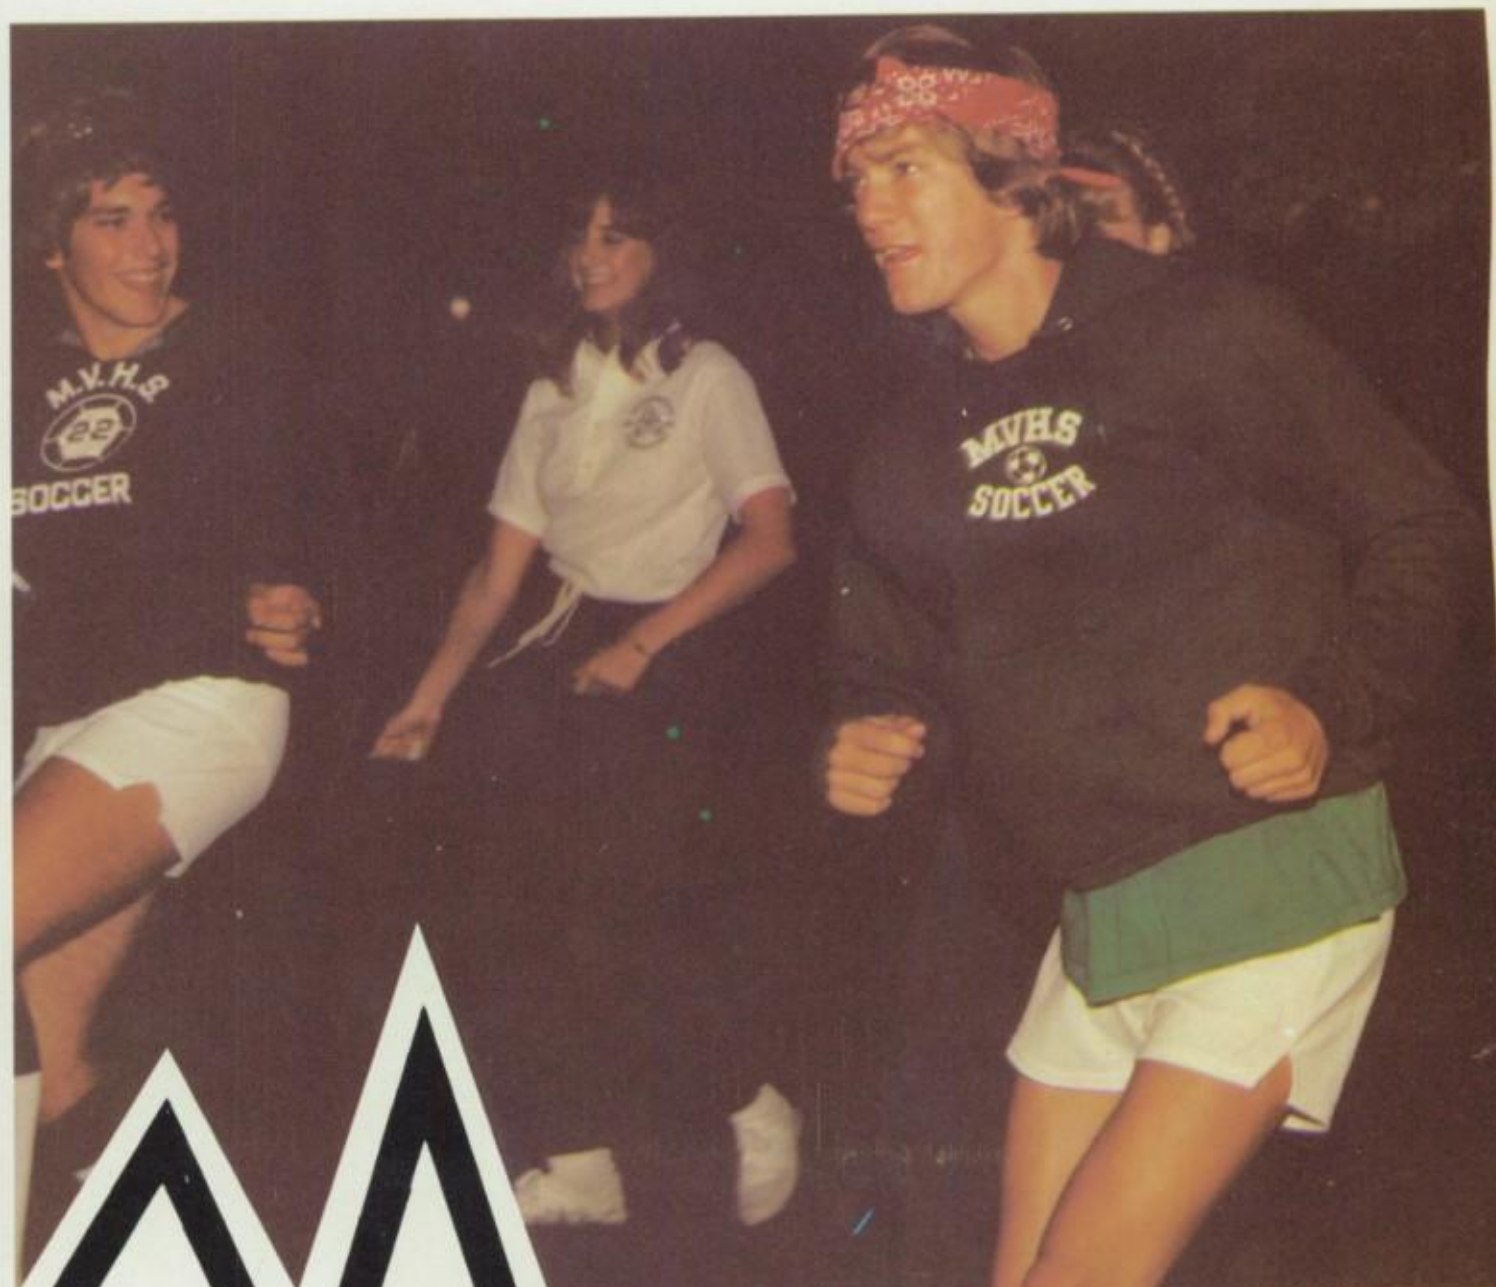

Packed into Calculus or a Chevy Van going to MacDonald's, sharing a locker or an American history text, more of us were brought closer together this past year than ever before. Mounds View did have a lot more students this year, and we put up with a little more push and shove than usual. But it was not that bad. All the days and just time spent with each other will always be remembered.

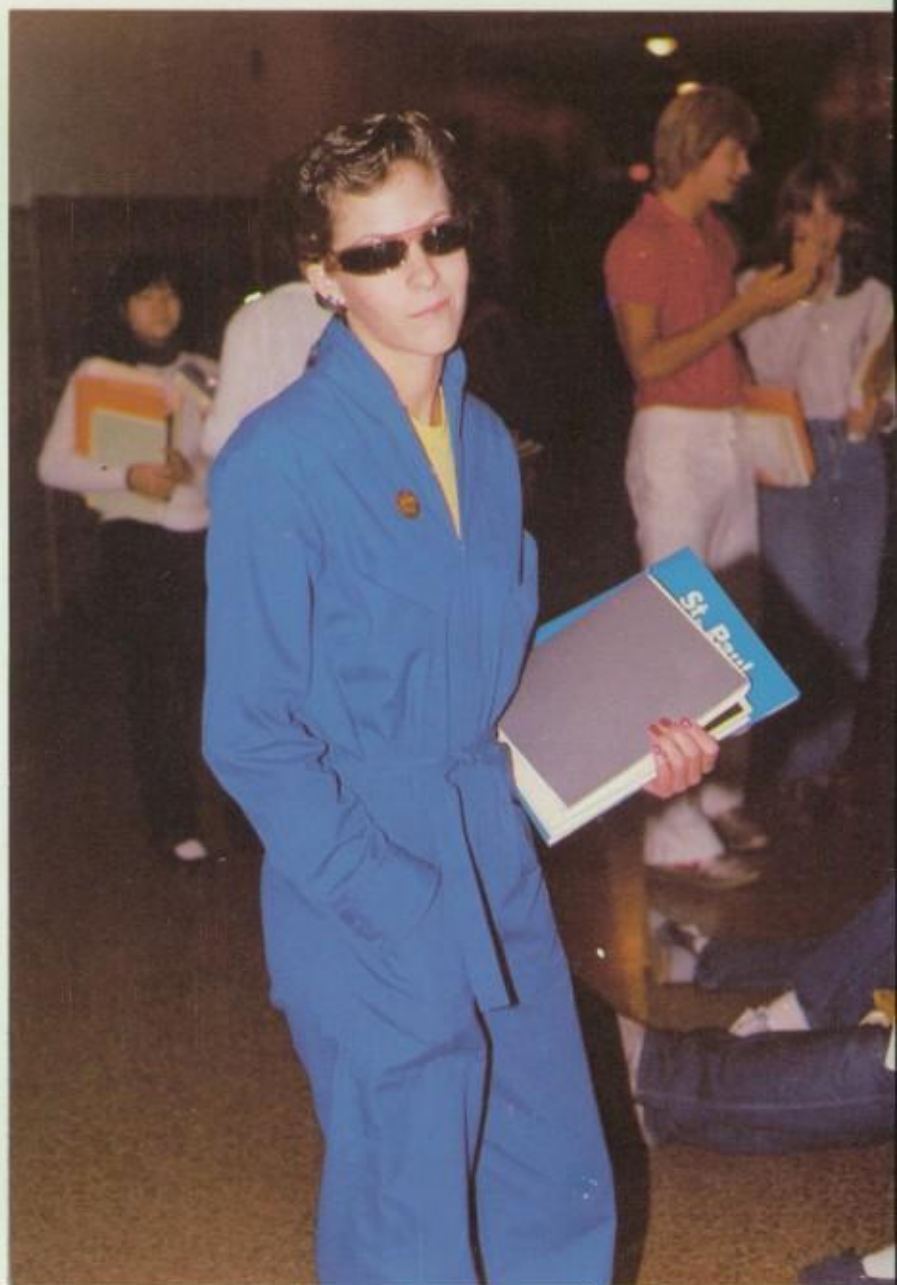

END OF THE LINE

We've got the spirit . . .

to get involved!

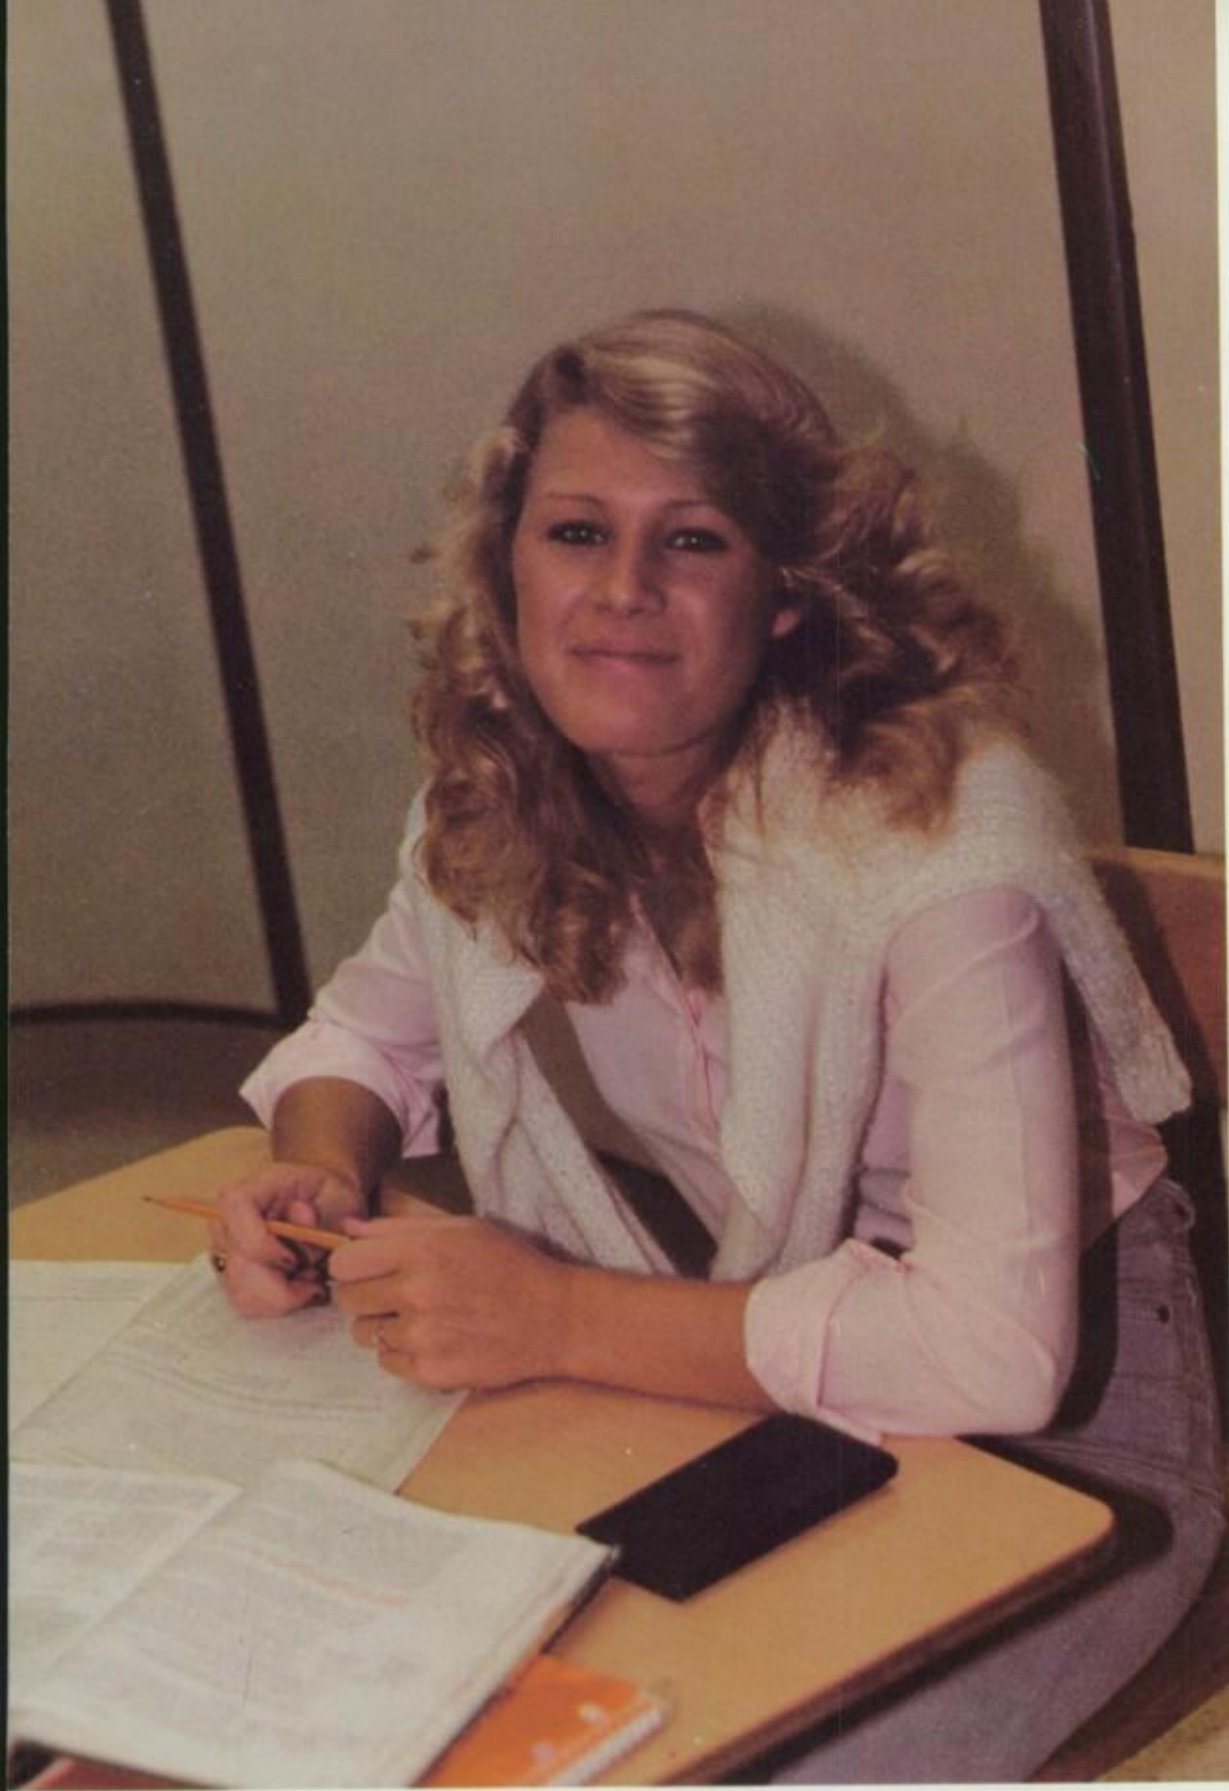

Shug,
 I'm really glad
 I got to know
 you this year.
 Biology was real fun (JK)!!
 This test on frogs is for sure a big F!! Well, I hope we get in more classes together
 next year.
 Love,

We strive to excel . . .

in all our goals . . .

and enjoy . . .

by spending time . . .

with our friends.

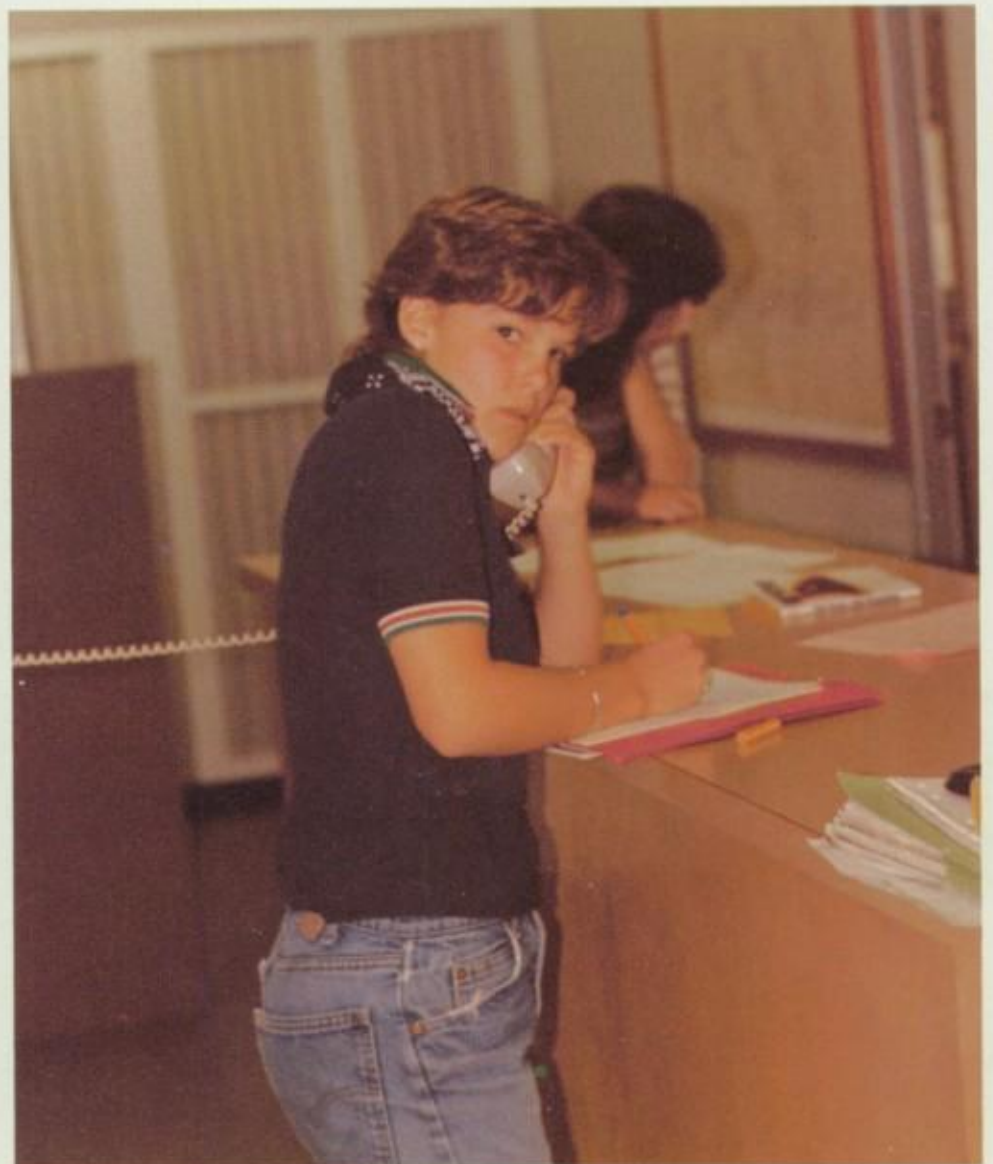

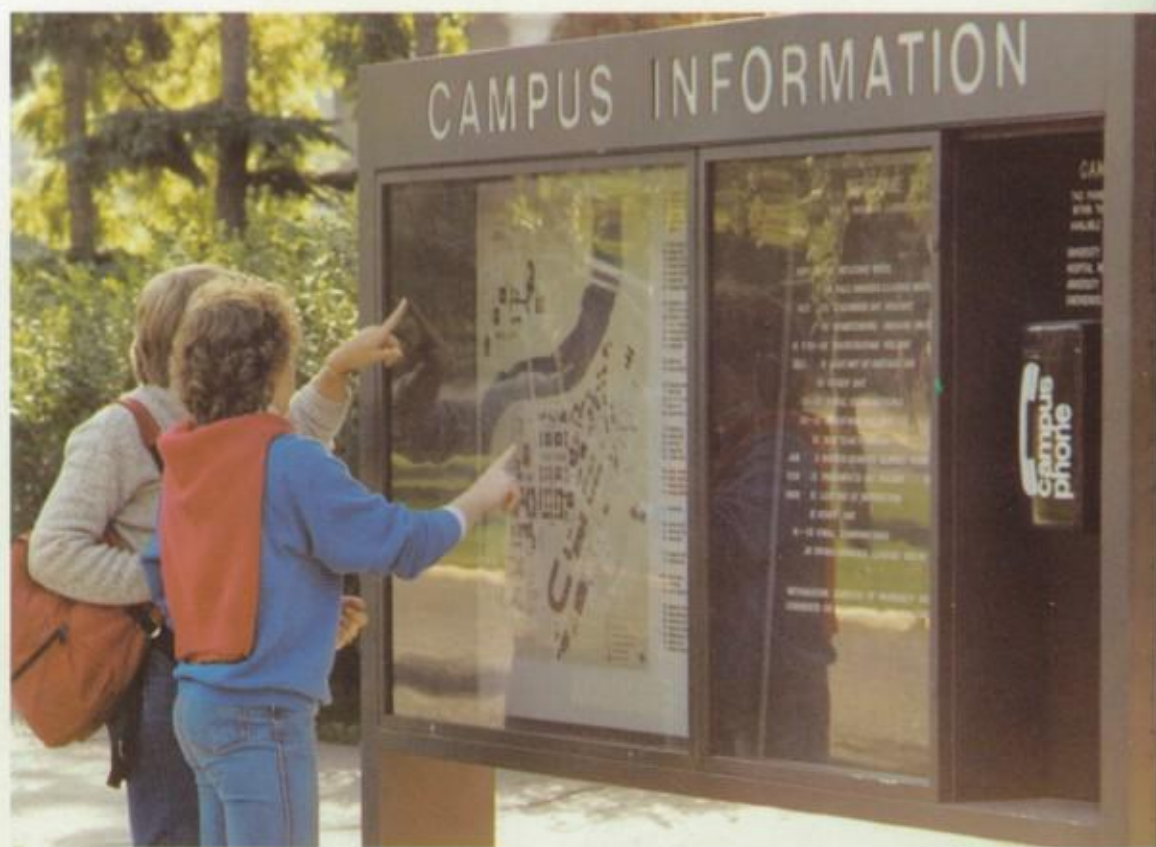

We had the courage . . .

to become leaders.

We're on our way . . .

to a new beginning!

The best is yet to be . . .

Reflecting back to the beginning of our Senior Year, one can easily remember how hard it was to just wake up that warm August morning. Who could forget that first moment of entering the long, echoing halls of our Tile Palace realizing that it was our last year of high school. All summer, one referred to "Last year" as our sophomore year, only to quickly realize that we were Seniors and that was all far behind us. We were finally the big guys of the school, the ones that everyone looked up to. Were we incredibly mature, or was it that we were just so much taller than the Freshmen?

As Seniors we were especially distinct from the rest of our fellow students here. The biggest difference was most noticeable in the morning before first hour. One could see the various students roaming around the halls with no sense of direction until 7:35, when the first bell rang. About this time the whole class of '83 could be found outside pulling into the parking lot, still groggy from the homework and/or sports and/or party the night before. We then made our daily pilgrimage to the attendance office.

But alas! We were now eighteen and were mature enough to write excuses for ourselves. "Please excuse (insert name) because he is needed at home." Sure. Or, "Please let (insert name) off after lunch on Friday because he/she has to pick up Mom at the airport." Right. It didn't occur to us that those ladies down at the office had heard it all before. But somehow, there we were, the Seniors, out of school early and headed for a bite at Mac's.

Seniors were also noticeably more subdued than the rest of the school. When the class bell rang, Seniors were never seen running to their classes. No, we had the underclassmen for that kind of entertainment. We walked the slowest in the hall and got our elbows bumped as everyone else slid on by. But the teachers understood and generally let it go.

It seemed to be the same way at the football games. Seniors were the ones watching the games, while everyone else

didn't really know what the score was. Eventually, the cheerleaders did "Victory Competition" which the seniors always won because no one else knew what to do.

We moved on through the year and started looking toward our after school thoughts. We had to address the question, "Is there really life after Mounds View?" Many Seniors got cramped hands from filling in the ovals and blanks on those applications and testing forms. They were asking seventeen and eighteen-year-old kids what they wanted to major in. It was a time of decisions and a lot of thinking, and even though we were all frustrated at times, these "decisions" helped us to grow.

Yet, every passing quarter seemed like Doomsday, and Seniors could be found burning the midnight oil trying to prepare for those big exams. A favorite was the Physics exam, because that challenged us to see exactly how much we could fit on a 3" by 5" notecard. We also had those awful current event quizzes to look forward to every Friday.

Now, looking back on the year, we see that it wasn't that much different from any other year except in the way that the teachers treated us. We were finally people; we would be able to vote in the next election; we registered for the draft; we even got a different driver's license, and if we crossed the bridge to Wisconsin, we became mature enough to "buy." With these new responsibilities, we acquired a new set of values. We cared more about the future and about ourselves, but most importantly, we took the risk in caring for others.

Graduation stirs mixed feeling in us all. We are happy to have made it through Mounds View, each of us uniquely different and excelling at different things. But it is a sad time for us too as we each go our own way, leaving friends that we have known for the duration of our sometimes traumatic high school life. It is a time for everyone to go the direction of his/her choosing. Yet as we all part we must remember this: Mounds View ain't seen nothin like the Class of '83.

IN MEMORIAM

SCOTT EICHELBERGER

Scott was born on February 10, 1964, in Hutchinson, Minnesota.

"I first met Scott in the summer after third grade. Looking back, I remember our times together: playing hockey, running track, listening to music, crashing over at each other's houses, double dating, and I'll never forget Scott's laugh. Scott, you'll always be with me in spirit."

Jim Anderson

"IKE"

"I always remember our friendship and all the good times. I'll always keep you in my memories."

Your Friend,
Mike Wreath

"IKE was a determined type of person. If he wanted to do something, he would go out and do it. He wouldn't go anywhere without his tunes. He was a member of an elite family in which I was proud to be a part of; the other members know who they are."

John Anderson

"Scott and I worked and grew up together. IKE, I know you're watching me, and I'll do my best."

Ken Lamere

From the friends of Scott, "We all Love You."

Juniors choose courses

The juniors, the Class of 84, numbered 534 students. During the course of the year, they were required to take Modern World for a semester and choose between Russian, Asian or African studies to fulfill their social studies requirements. English requirements were met by choosing two semester classes from a variety of literature and writing courses. The remaining hours were filled with electives such as biology or chemistry, foreign languages, Algebra II, and a variety of other courses. A popular course among juniors was study hall, especially for those who needed that extra hour for homework.

PSAT's test skills

The Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test, known as the PSATs, were taken October 31, here at Mounds View for four dollars and twenty-five cents. Testing started at 8:30 a.m. and ran until 10:30 a.m. The PSAT tested verbal and math skills. Students' scores were compared with other juniors (or sophomores) across the country. Some students who had taken the test had the option to participate in the nationwide competition conducted by the National Achievement Scholarship Program. Also the test helps admission to many colleges. Students also received material from specific colleges.

Tuesday is movie night

Monday through Friday, after 2:15 p.m., our time was ours. We were faced with a broad range of alternatives to keep us occupied and entertained. Some of us settled down in front of the TV for the evening or read a book while others headed off to the movies. Some of the favorites this year included "First Blood," "ET," "Halloween III," and "An Officer and a Gentleman." A large percent of these were seen on Tuesdays because of the Tuesday special prices at Maplewood, Apache or Roseville 4. Those with more time saw "Rocky Horror," "Warriors," and "Kentucky Fried Movie" at the midnight showings.

Juniors learn mole

What is a mole? To some, it is just a burrowing rodent. To those who took Chemistry as juniors, it meant the number of molecules in a molecular weight, exactly 6.02×10^{23} molecules. This was one of the main ideas throughout the course in addition to the atomic theory and the periodic table. Kinetic theory, equilibrium and biochemistry were also introduced. Much of class time was spent in the lab, learning about energy, phase changes and chemical reactions.

McDonald's or school?

Did you ever wonder if it was worth it to take off for McDonalds during lunch or just stay in the crowded lunchroom? School lunch was not that bad price-wise. If you bought a hamburger, french fries, and milk at school you spent only 95¢. At McDonalds, just the hamburger and fries were 95¢. If you included the milk, the price soared to over a $1.30. Not only was the lunch food more inexpensive, the break food was also. For instance, if you bought an ice cream sandwich at school, it only cost 25¢. At most stores, however, it would have cost at least 10¢ more. Doughnuts and jumbo pretzels were also about 20¢ cheaper at school than stores. Next time you think the school charges too much, compare the price with other eating establishments.

Juniors seek work

This past year, many Mounds View students were faced with the problem of where to get money to spend on records, gasoline, munchies, movies. To solve the money crunch, many students resorted to getting a job. Some students found work at Rosedale in York Steak House, Footlocker or Foxmore. Some worked at Bishops at Har Mar. Many others found work at fast food restaurants. Students had to work weeknights and weekends and ended up doing homework or cramming for a test late at night. Some students had to give up regular school and student activities to work. Yet, when payday came, it was worth it.

Juniors take on responsibility

Early in the fall elections for junior class officers were held. Students signed up for the positions they wanted to run for and then the junior class voted. Kurt Schwabe was elected president; Patty McNamee was elected vice-president, and Lisa Murakami was elected secretary. The junior class officers were the contact between the administration and the Junior Class. The junior class officers not only planned the Sadie Hawkins dance and the prom but also sent sympathy cards to families of juniors involved in a tragedy.

Lisa Murakami, 11, and Kurt Schwabe, 11, discuss plans for Sadie.

No longer the youngest

This year's sophomores arrived with more confidence than ever, knowing they would not be the youngest group. This year's class numbered 484 students, a definite drop from last year's class. The sophomores endured through their requirements, such as English 10, American History, health, and phy. ed. The remaining hours were filled with classes such as math, biology, foreign languages and other electives. Even with the freshmen below them, the sophomores still suffered through the jokes and pranks traditionally done to sophomores. However, they endured it all and are ready for the next school year and their role as juniors.

Students hit the slopes

As soon as the first snow fell, a white blanket covered the ground, and thoughts of skiing prevailed.

To prepare for the ski season, students went to such places as Hoigaards, Sitzmark and the Lift to purchase equipment and clothing. Some popular clothing brands were Roffe, SB, and White Stag. Hotfinger (gloves and mittens) was a popular brand among the skiers. To navigate the slopes, the skiers bought Rossignal, Hart, K2 or Olin skis. Along with skis, they purchased boots such as Nordica or Lange.

Within a short distance of the Twin Cities, many ski resorts were available: Wild Mountain, Afton Alps and Trollhaugen to name a few. All offered ski equipment for rental: skis at five dollars and boots and polls for four dollars. In order to use the chairlifts, skiers bought a lift ticket costing eight dollars for weekday and twelve dollars for weekend.

Lockers, home away from home

Physically, lockers are nothing more than 56" by 12" by 15" sheet metal boxes, but to some, they meant much more. Lockers served as both functional devices and outlets for a wide range of personal expressions.

Lockers served as an appropriate spot to stash jackets, books, bags and pencils; also students found room in them for mirrors, noteboards, pictures and multitudes of other miscellaneous "decorations." Shelves were always a good way to show creativity. Made from cardboard, wood or metal riveted into the sides, they were often covered with carpet or wallpaper.

As you walked through the halls, you couldn't help but notice how students brought a little bit of home with them to Mounds View. Your locker was "your turf;" many breaks and lunches were spent outside an open locker. After a day of being pushed through the halls, it was always comforting to be able to return to your locker and know it was really "yours."

Many elect Biology

Many students elected to take Biology during their sophomore year. They studied both the plant and animal kingdoms, which included botany, physiology, anatomy, zoology and genetics. Biology is probably most remembered for the plant and insect collections. Those who procrastinated realized that frost had killed most insects and leaves had disappeared. Many found themselves working until the early hours of the morning on the day their projects were due, frantically searching their back yards for forbs or crawling around with a flashlight searching for insects.

Sophomores anticipate driving

One of the big thrills that the Sophomores looked forward to was getting their drivers license. They anxiously awaited the day they turned 16 and were able to drive. In order to get their license, they had to take a drivers education class in which they learned the basics of driving. After their 30 hours of class, they took a permit test and were able to drive with their parents. They were required to take at least six to eight hours of behind-the-wheel. And then the dreaded time arrived. It was the infamous day drivers take the license test.

The Hit List

Kids often wondered what the yellow sheet of paper that arrived on the teachers desk every morning was. Those who knew called it the "Hit List" or the "Black List." But the teachers called it by its real name, the "Discrepancy List." The purpose of the list was not to show all the teachers who the bad kids were because some of the kids on it got on by mistake. Michael McGlinch, one of the assistant principals, said, "It's a natural extention of the absence list. It's to help inform parents that their son or daughter has missed a class that day." Sometimes, when kids saw their name in big black letters on that gold sheet, they panicked. There was really no need to. More often than not, it was nothing very serious, or it was a mistake.

Students share fellowship

Young Life is an international organization that many students are involved in. Young Life has two different groups which students could participate in. At Monday night club, an informal meeting was held (in fact, it may have appeared unorganized) where students sang together, watched and participated in skits, and listened to a talk given by one of the volunteer leaders, which introduced them to Christianity. Young Life gave kids an opportunity to be exposed to Christianity in a way they could relate to.

For those students who wanted to further explore Christianity, Young Life had another group, Campaigners, that was a Bible study. Two different Campaigner groups met, one on Sunday and the other on Wednesday night. Young Life also has many camps throughout the United States and Canada where students can go and share in a Christian experience.

MV adds a class

The 1982-1983 school year brought the return of the freshman class to Mounds View High School. Freshmen from Johanna and Chippewa joined together to form a class numbering 470 students.

They were required to take several classes such as English 9, Physical Science, phy. ed., Social Science 9, and a level of math. This left an hour for the freshmen to choose an elective.

The freshman class adjusted well to the change and seemed to enjoy the high school atmosphere. However, next year they will have to adjust to being sophomores and learn to endure the sophomoric jokes!

Freshmen typical class

Walking down the hall on any given day, one heard "forsure," or saw numerous Izods and Topsiders. These were traditional trademarks of the freshman class. Each class had its own style of language, clothing and places to go. Such words as "gage me," "I'm sure," or "totally," were popular.

Many of the freshman wore brand names. In jeans they preferred Lee, Calvin Klien, Jordache, and Levis to other popular brands. Hunters Run, Ralph Lauren, OP shirts, and sweatshirts were just a few common names of shirts they wore. Duck shoes along with Tretorns, Nikes, and Tigers were popular.

MacDonalds and Rosedale seemed to be the places freshmen thought they ought to hang out, and freshmen spent some free time at football games, skiing or at arcades playing such games as "Frogger" or "Donkey Kong."

Views of Freshmen vary

The recent addition of Freshmen to Mounds View caused mixed emotions.

Freshmen saw themselves as "the underdogs of Mounds View" and as "tools used by seniors to take out hidden aggressions." Some felt cheated and thought they should have been given a break. Nobody asked them if they wanted to come to Mounds View.

Most Sophomores were quite happy to have the Freshmen at Mounds View because it took the pressure of being the youngest off them.

About the Freshmen, returning juniors made comments ranging from "glad to have them here," to "they're so immature it's unreal!"

The upperclassmen's opinions of the Freshmen varied from disgust and indifference, to "I never noticed them." Some felt the Freshmen were "too big to be unnoticed, too small to be hit," while others thought of them as "nothing more than a new addition."

9th grade is Physical Science

Everyone has his or her own memories of taking Physical Science during their freshman year. This course introduced both chemistry and physics, along with such basic skills as problem solving, reasoning, and the scientific method. Labs and experiments took up to 50 to 60 percent of classtime, dealing with subjects such as graphs, equations, heat, light and electricity. All labs had to be written up, and quizzes on lab procedure were frequent. Tests were a mixture of multiple choice, matching and complete the blank questions. Through Physical Science we also grew to know our classmates better, since different partners were assigned for each lab.

J.A. provides early business experience

What do you do on week nights when you have no homework and there is nothing on T.V.? Some of the Freshmen solved that problem by belonging to an organization called Junior Achievement (J.A.). J.A. is based on a real business in which the students invent and develop a product. Some of the students are involved with making the products, others testing it, and some in marketing the product. Members spend two or three hours a night, up to three nights a week, downtown, working on their product. "It's a good chance to learn what we will be needing in the future," says a Freshman. "I love it."

TV passes the time

This past fall brought a whole new crop of television shows for viewing pleasure. Many of the old shows also managed to stay on the air and offered a good variety of shows that ranged from action packed suspense shows to situation comedies.

When freshmen were asked to write down their favorite television shows, they made a variety of responses. The most popular show written down by the freshmen was "HART to HART," a mystery drama about a wealthy couple who's hobby is murder. The freshmen picked "HILL STREET BLUES," a realistic police drama, as the second most popular show. They also mentioned several new shows such as "SQUARE PEGS," a situation comedy that was brought on by the Valley Girl fad.

Overall, they expressed a wide range in tastes leaving one thing evident: television is as popular as ever.

Finally, the levy passes

On October 5, district residents voted on a proposed, two-year, seven-mill tax levy. The projected income from the levy was $3 million. The levy was supposed to reinstate programs that had been cut the previous year. That levy was defeated by 123 votes. A second levy was held on November 9. That one was a one-year, 3.5-mill tax levy that was just supposed to sustain the programs that were in existence. The Nov. 9 levy passed by 950 votes. Many students were glad the levy passed because class sizes would not continue to increase. Although some of the programs lost would not come back to life, they would not lose any more programs. Many students helped pass the levy by distributing literature in their spare time.

Homecoming Arouses School

Students singing the Mounds View Rouser, the coronation of the Homecoming royalty and a dance by the sexy soccerettes were just some of the sights Mounds View students witnessed at this year's Homecoming pepfest.

Students waited anxiously for the crowning of the royalty, Senior King Eric Canfield and Senior Queen Lynn Gustafson, while they were entertained by the Viewettes dancing to "Run Like Hell" by Pink Floyd.

Master of Ceremonies, Kim Rautio, Mike Vinyon, and Jim Groebner kept the hour running smoothly.

This excitement showed at the evening's Homecoming game which ended with a Homecoming victory.

Students jam To sounds of SL

A shock wave traveled through the Mounds View gymnasium on the night of September 25 as students jammed to the sounds of Sussman Lawrence, a popular local rock band.

The band pleased everyone from freshmen to seniors. The students enjoyed dancing and listening as the group played their brand of music. The songs varied from a little bit of jazz to contemporary rock.

During the evening students won such door prizes as Mounds View jerseys, Journey Escape albums, a cooler of Mountain Dew, gift certificates for County Seat, and a pair of North Star tickets.

Cheerleaders Colleen George and Lisa Hilbink led cheers, sang, played air guitars, and got everyone to participate.

Jingle-Bell-Jam rings in spirit

Although only about 100 students attended the Jingle-Bell-Jam, all who went had a good time. Two seniors, Troy Linck and John Woolfrey, played records on a rented sound system. A dinner which preceded the dance was given at Junior Amy Porter's house, by the Student Council for foreign exchange students. Many door prizes such as North Star tickets, a duffle bag, current-hit record albums such as Billy Squire and Men at Work, Mountain Dew, and Pepsi . . .

Athletes honored at fall banquet

Filling the MoundsView theater, athletes and their parents gathered to honor Mounds View's finest and their teams at the 1982 Fall Sports Banquet.

Students listened as nine coaches praised the talent of their teams. Outstanding individuals were introduced and noted for their achievements.

Prior to the awards ceremony, a spaghetti dinner was held in the cafeteria. Breaking the tradition of previous banquets, the dinner was catered instead of being pot luck.

Music reaches many,

The Mounds View bands, choirs, and orchestras presented many concerts here this year: the Fall, Holiday, Pop, and Spring Concerts. Small groups of band, choir, and orchestra members toured various nursing homes, such as Trevilla and the Presbyterian Homes. A small group of choir members also sang at a non-denominational church service at Fort Snelling. The Pep Band was able to entertain at more basketball, football, and hockey games this year than last year. On occasion, the Jazz Band or groups of orchestra members played in the lobby before school. All these extras were even possible with the budget cuts. This really says something about the music department at Mounds View.

Dracula vamps MV audience

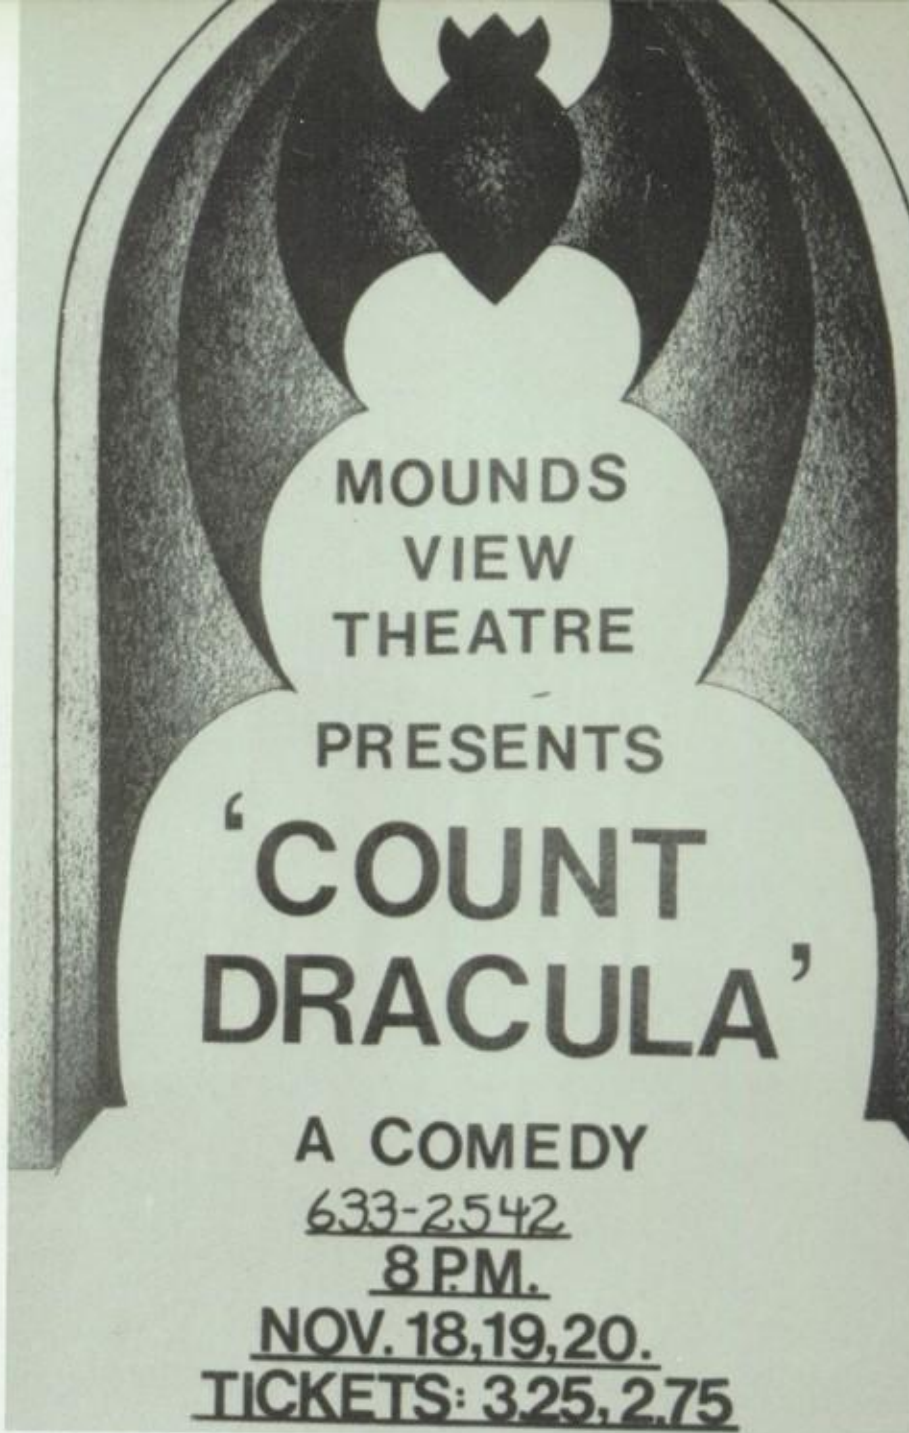

Directed by Emily Houpt, a former Mounds View student, "Count Dracula" was presented by the Mounds View theatre department. The play was staged on the evenings of November 17, 18, and 19. With a nearly full house each night, the play was a great success. Many people felt it was the best play Mounds View has ever done. The presentation is a comedy about Dracula's persistent attempts to gain the innocent girl's love. The play cast consisted of nine students (one freshman, one junior and seven seniors), and six technical members. The play company worked on this presentation for five weeks - approximately 33-40 hours a week. Fifty students tried out and only nine were chosen. Because of the play's great success a musical was planned in the spring.

Snow-daze precipitates flurry of disguises

This year Snow-Daze began with Hat and Sunglasses Day. The halls of Mounds View were filled with covered heads and shaded eyes. Tropical flowered shirts, shorts and even a before school frisbee game outside in the circle drive all contributed to make Tuesday, Tropical Day, a success. Wednesday, declared Opposite Sex Day, found Mounds View girls in Tuxedo fashions and the boys in dresses. And Thursday, many students came outfitted in their finery for Dress up Day. The week ended with a pep fest attended by students dressed in the school colors of green and white for Spirit Day.

The pepfest, led by announcers Kipp

Wessel, Bob Van Kirk, and Erik Rassmussen, also included a Family Fued game. Throughout the week contestants battled their wits to play in the final game. Sophomore Billy Conlin, substituting for Richard Dawson, quizzed the finalists until the team of Seniors Paul Stewart, Dave Wahlberg, Kris Berggren, and Seanne Linder were declared the winners. Because of time, the pie eating contest was delayed and held after school with Senior Jim Holm taking the honors.

The pepfest also included the crowning of the royalty who this year included: Seniors Kara Albertson and Greg Osborn, Juniors Molly Brown and Dan Linders, Sophomores Ann Magnuson and Lonnie Evans, and Freshman Sue Fairchilds and Steve Redlinger. Other nominees included: Seniors: Penny Boyum, Patty McCullum, Joli Grow, Kim Richards, Ben Haines, John Wawack, John Haglund, and Mike Vinyon; Juniors: Lisa Hilbink, Lisa Murikami, Nancy Hokkala, Patty Mcnamee, Reid Berggren, Tom Brodal, Darcy Schubloom, and Scoot Bliss; Sophomores: Beth Canfield, Ruth Philipson, Sheila Jordon, Sarah Moen, Jim Haller, Mike Sevrin, Jim Frosliid, and John Benzik; Freshmen: Joelle Bartells, Sara Schrupfold, Kim Berg, Chris Hakala, Chad Runeberg, Tom O'kane, Tim Reese, and John Ostegren.

Assassin and Wild Dogs kill concert crowd

For the first time in Mounds View's history, the gymnasium hosted a two band concert. The two local bands were Assassin and Wild Dogs. This concert took place Friday night February 12, ending the Snow Daze activities.

Only about 150 people showed up, but some danced while others jammed to the music. One reason for the absenteeism was a hockey game against Blaine which Mounds View won. The other reason may have been that neither band was well known.

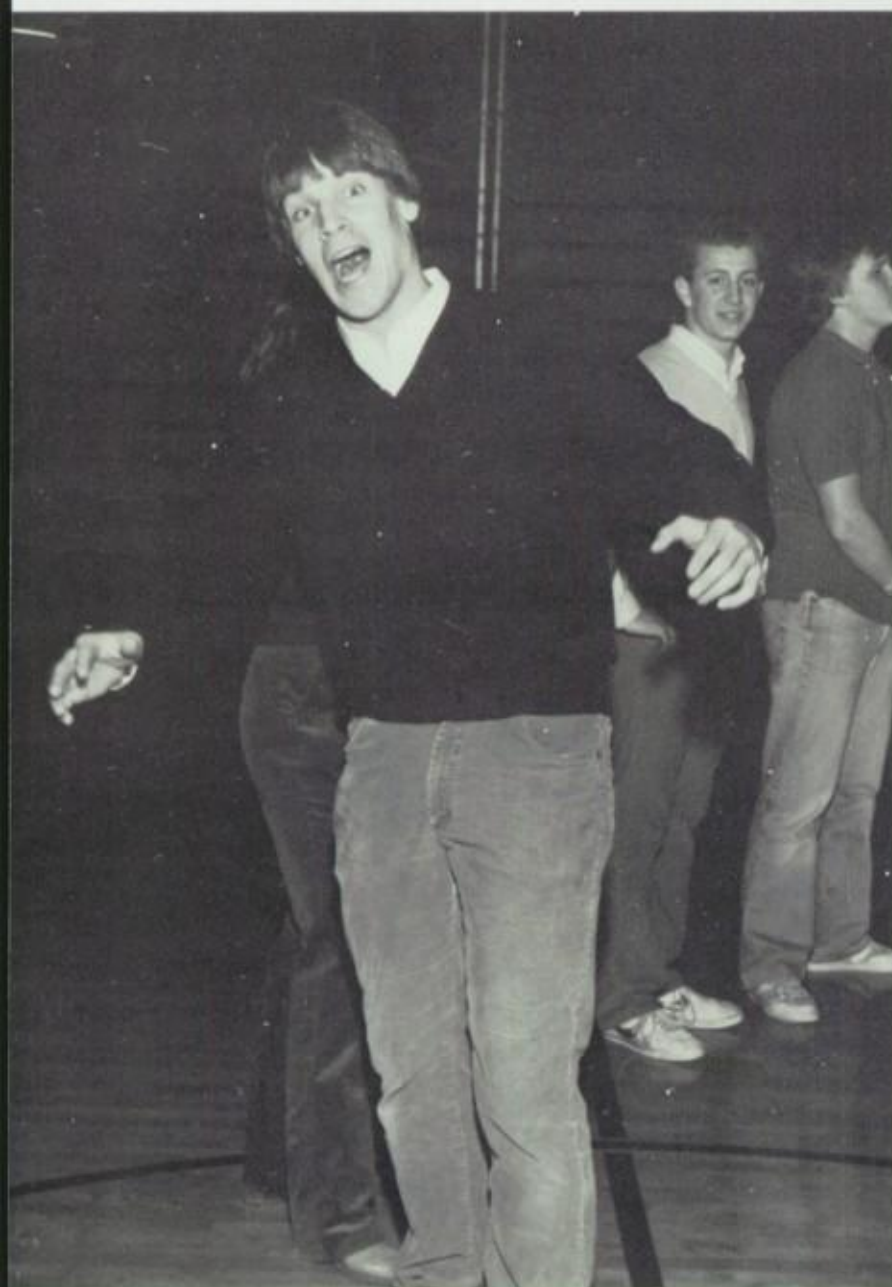

► Freshmen girls take time out from the concert to chat.

▼ Four rowdy freshmen jam to the music.

►► Sophomores dance to a different beat.

▼► Senior SeAnne Linders is caught off guard.

BETWEEN THE LINES

Viewettes dance to beat of EWF

This year's Viewettes started the year out on the right foot when they received a runner-up award at the State Fair talent show. After countless summer morning practices, they had emerged a fresh, new line. Dancing to the beat of Earth, Wind, and Fire's "Rock That," they won the U of M competition.

Participating in a community fund raiser to raise money for themselves, they filled the halls of Mounds View with M&M's, held a raffle for a T.V., and had a car wash on a sunny Saturday morning. After expanding the line to 24, they used this money to buy more uniforms and new pom-poms and to enter competitions.

But now the cold football games, dancing on muddy soccer fields, and torn uniforms are fading memories. They will remember, however, the feeling of accomplishment, the friends they made, and the feeling of togetherness — of being part of a team. For the Viewettes were a team, a team that practiced as hard as any other team at Mounds View, practicing every day after school for two full seasons.

VIEWETTES: Sheryl Laden, Linda Lerdahl, Dawn Mondry, Beth Persico, Lori Cihlar, Ann Lomoro, Linda Arny, Rina Martin, Joli Grow, Kristi Smith, Jilene Hanson, Jill Borg, Sherri Obinger, Kristine Gruetzman, Carolyn Cox, Laura Powers, Shawn McDonald, Barb Palmer, Stephanie Decker, Jenna Och, Debbie Poe, Kelly Case, Kelly McCleary, Lee Andre.

◀The Viewettes warm up for the annual Powder Puff football game which they won, 21-0.

We've got spirit

The MV fall cheerleaders under the guidance of a new advisor, Pam Zebro, started the year off with the homecoming dance featuring the popular Twin Cities band Sussman Lawrence.

The Powder Puff game was not a success for the cheerleaders. They played a tough game against the Viewettes but lost by a score of 21-0. Cheerleaders may have had a lot of spunk and spirit, but it seems that the Viewettes had the speed.

In mid-September the cheerleaders sold sweat suits and had great success selling boxes of M & M's and Twizzler licorice. Although this contributed to the trash problem in the halls of M.V., it had the whole school munching.

The main purpose of the cheerleaders was to promote school, team, and spectator spirit, and they did just that by hosting pep fests, making signs for games and meets, and bringing Mountain Dew and brownies for the team.

Through all this and much pain and strain in between, they always managed to come out smiling and doing what they do best, encouraging spirit!

The winter cheerleaders began their season by keeping the hockey, basketball, swimming and wrestling teams and spectators psyched and ready for the '83 season.

They had their second annual "Spring Ball:" a semi-formal dance in mid-March where the girl asked the guy out. (Hopefully the dance will become a MV tradition.)

With the money that the cheerleaders made from homecoming buttons, the dance, and candy sales, they purchased new varsity uniforms.

Another year has come and gone and the Mounds View Cheerleaders made the 1982-83 sports seasons some of the best and most memorable.

Student Council projects help

Among the many Student Council projects this year few were as helpful as the Thanksgiving Food Drive and Christmas's Santa Anonymous. Also extremely successful, Sno Daze went over very well thanks to the spirit of the frolicky freshmen. Student Council also sold carnations for Homecoming and Sno Daz.

Honor Society changes

The major difference in the Honor Society this year was the change in admittance requirements. Only seniors in the top 15% were admitted as opposed to last year when the top 10% of juniors were also admitted. Students last year were accepted primarily on teacher recommendation.

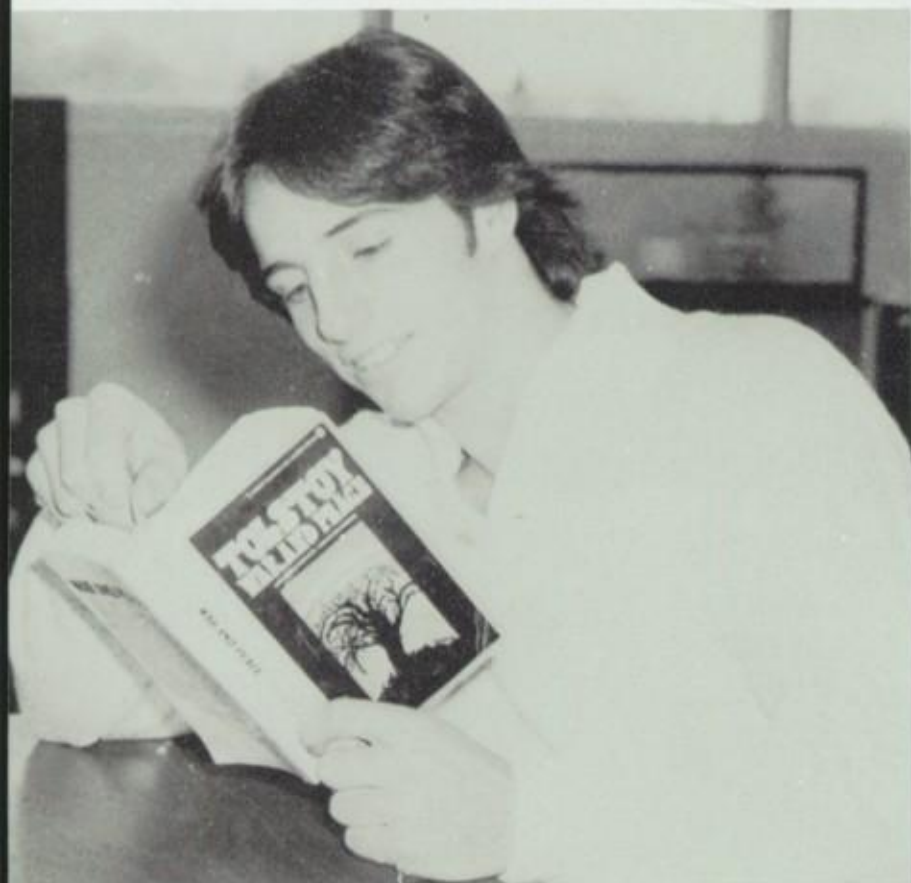

This year acceptance was based on volunteer and community service. An applicant had to have two activities he/she had participated in recently. Activities included hospital volunteering, all types of sports, teacher in a Bible studies class, and summer camp counseling.

Journalism I, II compose weekly

Only someone involved in the newspaper could begin to fathom the amount of work that goes into producing a quality newspaper bi-weekly. The editors of the school paper, The Viewer, began their year with a new advisor, a cut in their budget, and a bit of uncertainty.

However, an occasional deadline that was cut close, headlines that did not always fit just right, and copy that was sometimes scarce did not stop the quality editors and dependable cub reporters from producing a successful paper.

Those students involved in Journalism I and II and the production of the school newspaper were also involved in producing the Original * Viewpoint page in the New Brighton Bulletin.

Yearbook staffers provide a 'Vista'

The word "vista," meaning a distant view, a prospect, probably first originated from the "view" in Mounds View. Today, the word "Vista" represents the thirty-nine students that filled room 149 during fourth hour to produce the yearbook. After attending a summer camp at St. Johns University, this year's team of seven editors led the staff as they worked hard and diligently to draw-up pages, take pictures and meet deadlines. Striving to interweave the theme of "the shockwave of change," they produced a book that does provide vista, a look into the life here at Mounds View.

It takes time, research, evidence, and MacDonalds

Saturday and Tuesday evenings were debate days. Getting up at 6:00 a.m. and going occasionally until midnight was the debate team's schedule. At times it seemed that life and "Arms Sales," the national Debate topic for the season, were interchangeable. On Saturdays, the team members were on a first name basis with MacDonalds' employees eating there for both lunch and dinner.

Each debater was required to do a sixteen page report on a different part of the world, collect original evidence and spend hours at the library researching. The team was active from October to January when the regionals were held. Two Mounds View teams competed in regions: Seniors Lena Tan and Krishna Komanduri, one team, and David Lee, sophomore, and Paul Kammann, junior, another team. Unfortunately each team lost six of eight rounds. According to Advisor Reida Lazer, the best debaters were the ones with good verbal skills, good researching, and lots of dedication.

Quiz Bowl Team fast, accurate, top of their class

High School Bowl on KSTP Channel 5 no longer existed. The new name was the Minnesota Quiz Bowl with competitions at Ramsey High School on Saturdays.

The quiz Bowl was different from any other type of competition because the students used their academic strength rather than athletic technique. They had to be able to answer tough questions fast and accurately; they also happened to be in the top five percent of their class. At the competitions the questions were taken from the areas of literature, political science, mythology, math, science, and music. One of the questions that could be asked was, "Certain metals may have the characteristics of malleability and ductility. What do these terms mean?" The questions were taken from various sources. Two commonly used were the World Almanac and the Readers Digest Almanac. Competition was fierce in Mounds View's division with last year's state champions, Saint Paul Academy, along with all the state finalists in it.

'Dracula' Drama Club production

This year's Drama Club produced the fall play, "Count Dracula," to a sold out house all three nights. The cast worked long and hard under the direction of former Mounds View student Emily Houpt to earn the applause they received. Memorized lines, good stage presence and hours of rehearsal were all what this year's drama students put into their performances.

Coach produces quality team

Speech team, coached by Reida Lazer, had an exciting and productive year. The 20 members competed in an average of two meets a week from the beginning of February to the middle of April. Speeches ranged from oral interpretations to creative satire to informational speeches. Even though this was the first year Lazer coached the Mounds View team, they managed to hold up to their usual standard. Overall, the members did well and several went on to compete in the state speech tournament.

Students learn about the world

Can you imagine leaving Mounds View and your home to attend school and live in another country? A.F.S. gave students from Mounds View a chance to explore the world around them by allowing them to visit foreign countries and live with a host family. Some choose to stay for a summer. Others spent an entire year. All who have participated in the program agreed that they not only had a great time but learned a lot as well.

▲ Senior, Agnes Perez, feels that she has learned a lot about herself through A.F.S.

▲▲ Senior, Michelle Bebeau, reads the morning news.

▲ Sandy Reinhardt, senior, thinks her stay in Germany was both fun and educational.

and themselves

This year Mounds View hosted two foreign exchange students:

Eduardo Alvarez — "I like the people here. I came from Panama to have fun and new experiences. The other students are nice. They try to show me the way and help me but don't make me feel like the "special boy." I'm not the only student in Mounds View."

Agnes Perez — "I wanted to leave France and my family for one year to learn a new way of life and, also, a lot about myself. I never thought United States and France could be so different. I like very much Mounds View school spirit, and I love going to the football, basketball, hockey games . . . It was difficult for me at first to make friends, but now I have a few real friends. I would like to thank them. They helped me so much . . ."

We also had three of our fellow students live in foreign countries:

Sandy Reinhardt — Sandy traveled to Natal, Brazil last summer and felt, "Brazil was a time to learn a different kind of culture and a wonderful experience, fun and exciting. Brazil feels like my second home."

Michelle Bebeau — Michelle lived in Crete, Greece, her junior summer to "learn about another culture. It was an experience I will never forget. I will always miss my family and friends in Greece and hope some day to return. I learned a lot about the world and even more about myself."

Bill Dunn — "I have just completed a year in Perth, Australia, which began in January, 1982. I learned not only about Australia and its people, but the experience also enabled me to define and understand myself as a person. I'll cherish the memories forever, and I would jump at the chance to do it again."

DECA looks to the future

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is not a class but a part of the class Marketing and Distributive Education.

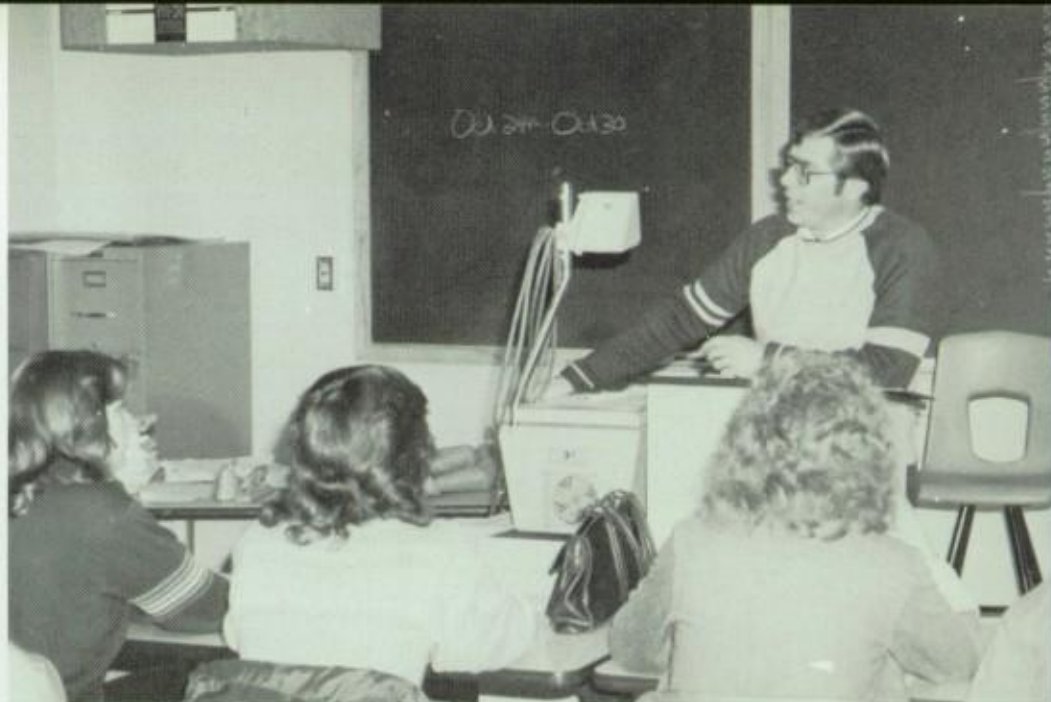

Since it is not a class, DECA is not part of the grading system. It is more of an option to the students of the Marketing and Distributive Education class. Everyone in class is required to write a research paper on a career. The information is acquired through research, surveys, and interviews with professionals.

Students also compete in that career. Competitions are based on the general knowledge each student has on a specific career and are judged by professionals.

The class and DECA were instructed by Dick Peterson. The classes consisting of 42 seniors met during second and third periods.

VICA students work way to top

VICA is a class which offers students the chance to study different aspects of the working and business world. Students learn the general rules of finding and keeping a job. They also study personality and job success, employer-employee relations, and taxes and the worker.

The class met during 2nd and 3rd periods and was instructed by Mr. Karjalahti. Each student received two grades: one using the point system on classwork and tests and one from the student's employer.

Some students, depending on their schedule, were allowed to leave school after 4th period and go to their jobs.

The students gained experience, knowledge and an insight into the working and business world, all of which may help them in the future to work their way to the top.

OEA thinks business

OEA (Office Education Association) was a class which prepared students for work in business offices. The students worked with computers and data processing and learned the formalities of legal and medical offices.

Like the other work programs, OEA taught human relations, insurance, taxes, and working relationships. Out of all the work programs, OEA leaned more towards business and business related jobs.

Students were graded on class participation and a research paper. They were also graded with an evaluation sheet from their employer. The class was taught by Linda Lodgaard and met 1st and 2nd period. Depending on their school schedule, some students left early for their jobs.

The OEA Club consisted of business skilled, non-skilled, and individual skilled competitions. In the local activities, the students raised money for the Employer/Employee Luncheon and student activities. Within Mounds View the students went Christmas caroling at rest homes, had parties for rest home residents and also raised money for the Special Olympics.

WE/CEP works freshmen

WE/CEP, which stands for Work Experience Career Exploration Program, is a work program designed for freshmen. The program is used primarily to introduce them to the working world. The classes met during 1st and 2nd periods and were instructed by Dan Daly. The class itself replaced the required social studies class and dealt with some of the subjects learned in that class. Banking, budgeting, employment skills, taxes, U.S. government, and law were some areas covered. All the students worked during school hours but had three or four hours at school.

Grades were given just as they were in the other work programs. A class grade was based on tests and projects, and a work grade was based on an evaluation sheet from the students employer.

The main purpose of the program was to help students who had not been having a good experience with school. One major difference with WE/CEP is that round-trip transportation was provided for the students. A new program at Mounds View, the WE/CEP program was considered quite a success.

Deutschers über alles!

German Club, advised by Herr Eggar, had another successful year with more members than ever, totalling in the eighties. They celebrated Beethoven's birthday and had their annual Oktoberfest where anyone could discover German cooking for a dollar. King Will Forshay and Queen Seanne Linder ruled over the festivities.

German Club also held its annual cake baking contest, with honors going to the following: Kevin Anderson, Peder Knutson, and Lauren Waltoff, for best looking, most original, and most German cake, respectively. German Club had a first this year with the putting together of a German band that played at different activities.

MV band takes new direction

Meeting during second, fourth, and sixth hours respectively were the Concert Band, Wind Ensemble, and the Ninth Grade Band. Everyday the bands blew out the wrinkles in their songs. Keeping up with the rest of the school changes, the band received a new director, Dave Magnuson. Dave Magnuson came from Chippewa to replace Cliff Aamoth, who retired last year.

One of the band's goals was to be more active in school activities and play at more sporting events. For the first time ever it played at the girls basketball games. They also participated in the Fridley Band Invitational and produced a number of successful concerts here at Mounds View.

Concert choir visits U.M.D.

The Choir performed four concerts over the year. One in the fall, a winter concert in addition to Christmas caroling at four rest homes, a combined concert with the band and orchestra on Valentine's Day, and the spring concert. They also performed at U. of M. Duluth as part of their spring trip.

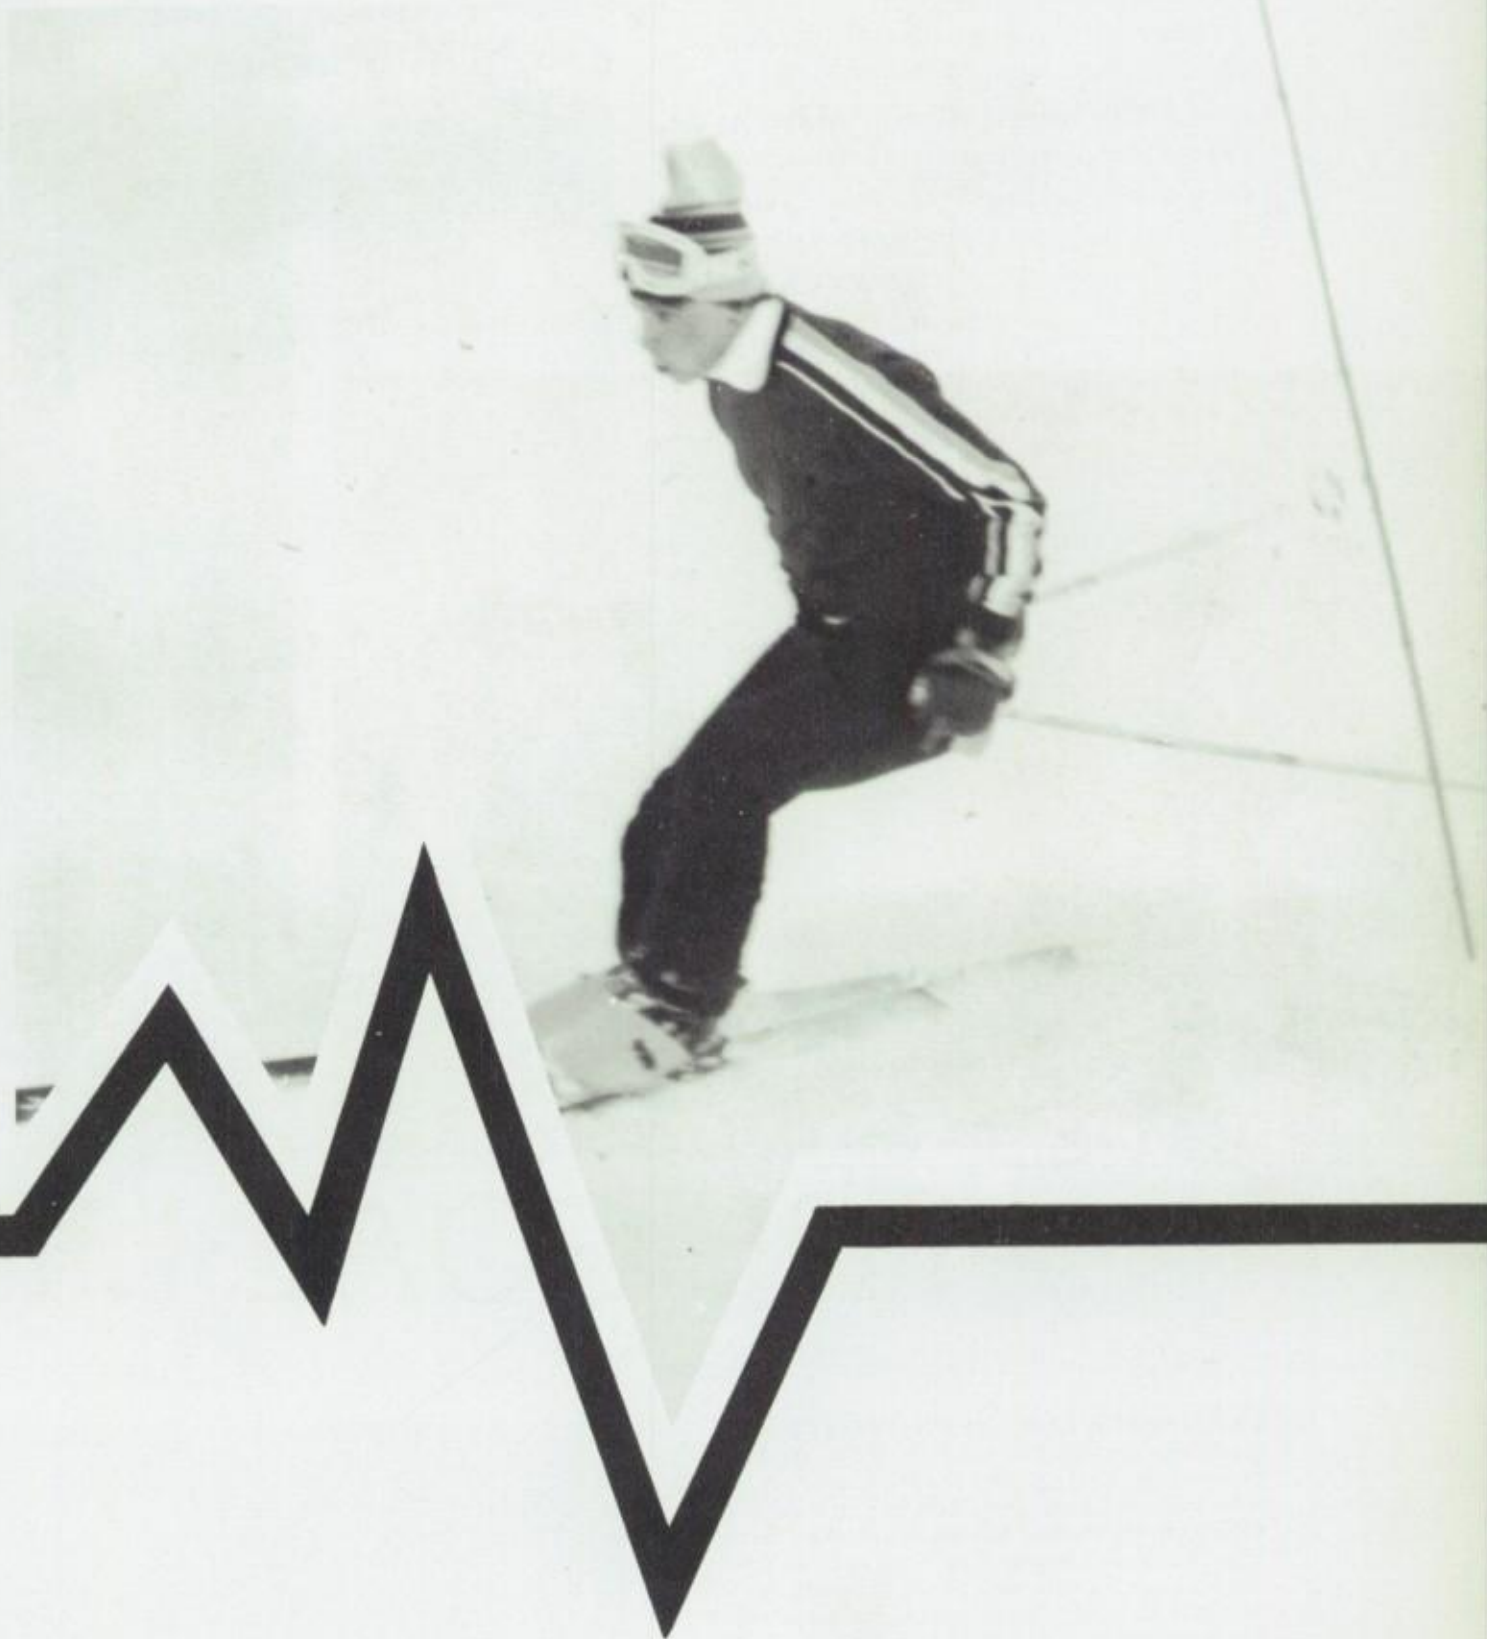

This year was the first time MV had two students, Seniors Scott Blommer and Jim Groebner, selected as all-state choir members. Eleven hundred students auditioned for the choir from four sections: bass, tenor, alto, and soprano. Forty students made it from each section. The winners made up the all-state choir which performed at Orchestra Hall in February and St. Cloud State in June.

The 1982-83 choir consisted of 60 students and was directed by Bernice Ness.

THE GOAL LINE

Football team in contention till conference closing

The football team started practice in early August with a weight training program supplementing their morning and afternoon practices. During the first few weeks of extensive drilling and training, the team was determined to "become the conference champions," stated Captain Tony Patz.

Though they narrowly missed this goal, the team "did a good job and played some fine games," praised Coach Bob Nelson; "Nobody expected the team to amount to much of anything this year, but they proved everybody wrong. They were conference contenders until the end."

Nelson attributes the team's successful season to the "strong leadership and unity amongst the team members," as well as the overall skill of the players. Highlights of the season included the victory over Coon Rapids, which was ranked sixth in the state at the time, and the first triumph over Columbia Heights in eight years.

Depth kicks girls' soccer team to state tourney

The 1982 girls' soccer team could be described as a team of depth and ability.

"We had a highly talented group of athletes and a lot of depth. Our players were skilled throughout the whole line-up," confirmed Coach John Blin.

A high point of the season was the game against Irondale. After tying them 1-1 in regular conference play, the team again faced Irondale, this time in the finals of the region tournament. The Mustangs, however, prevailed in this game, beating Irondale for the first time in seven games. With this victory the team advanced to the state tournament.

Making their first appearance ever at the state tournament, the girls' soccer team faced last year's state champion, Washburn. Though they had tied Washburn 1-1 earlier in the season, the Mustangs succumbed 0-3 in the tournament's first round.

Yet, overall, "We were like a family. We got along great which allowed us to work well together," said Captain Carrie Conlin.

Gymnastics team makes vaulting effort to improve

On August 16, in a gym far removed from the mainstream of Mounds View activity, the boys' gymnastics team began their season.

Determined to succeed, the team set high goals and practiced fanatically, four hours a day, six days per week. This hectic schedule made many demands of the gymnasts. Physically, wrist splints, torn and bleeding palms, shin splints, joint problems, and broken bones frequently plagued the team.

With all their injuries, one may wonder what motivates gymnasts.

"Because gymnastics is primarily an individual sport, each gymnast is motivated by his own drive and ambition, as well as the intense team unity. Team members strove equally for personal and team goals," stated captain Mike Orth. Coach Tim White gave many inspiring speeches which drove the team to train even harder. Co-Captains Tony Barbato and Mike Orth also contributed to the team's strong unity and leadership.

The team's intense practice was rewarded at the state meet where Mounds View finished 15th, ranking above Irondale who had defeated them earlier in the season.

Tennis team undergoes changes; work nets rewards

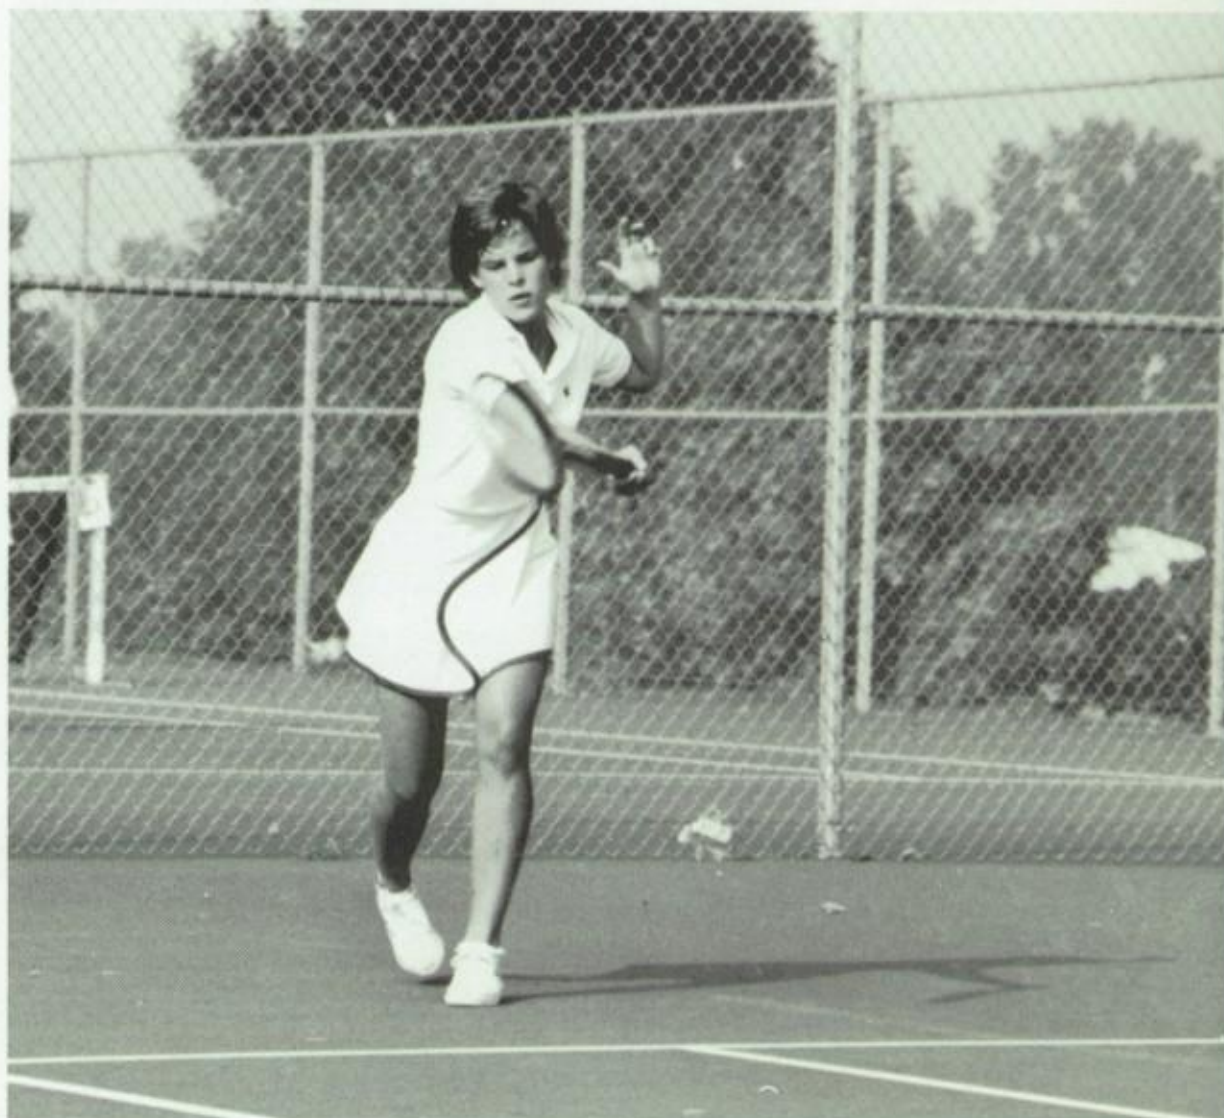

Tennis tryouts on August 16 brought over 50 girls to Mounds View's tennis courts. None, however, was aware of the changes in store for them.

Two first-year, "model coaches," Dan Westlund and Carla Erdman, determined to "have the team performing at its utmost potential," employed a rigorous regime consisting of: line—touchers, serve and volley drills, and trips to "the hill," in addition to intense two-hour practices.

The girls' work, however, was rewarded with an overnight trip to Gustavus-Adolphus College where they challenged St. Peter, Mankato East, and Mankato West, dropping only three of 21 possible points.

Concluding their season with ten wins and four losses, the team entered regions where they secured a 3-2 victory over Columbia Heights in the first round but yielded to White Bear 2-3 in the second round, losing three hard-fought three set matches.

Individually, singles players Caroline Amplatz and Emily Moses teamed up to sweep the region doubles tournament but lost in the first round of state competition.

Dedicated cross country team runs to success

From the heat of August to the snow of the conference and regions meets, the cross country team worked hard and was highly successful. "Our success was just a reflection of the real victory, the dedication, and the discipline it takes to be a runner," stated Captain Hillary Wackman.

Dedication and discipline were important in some of their harder workouts, including the Stillwater Hills, steady states, and those dreaded time trials.

But the team also had time for fun at their pre-meet carbo-loads. Runners consumed tremendous quantities of spaghetti and lasagna, leading them to wonder whether they would be rolling through the chute the next day.

This season saw Mounds View's first State Cross Country Champion, Senior Hillary Wackman. Junior Patti Walsh finished a strong fourth. In the boys' race, Sophomore Jeff Taylor placed a tremendous fifth.

Led by Taylor, the boys' team placed tenth in state, after finishing second in the conference and first in the region.

Although the girls won their conference meet, they tied for third in the region.

Volleyball team bumps into an improved record

Working hard to rebuild throughout their pre-season practice, the volleyball team was ready for a tough season. Killers, Harvard step test, and jump training all aided in preparing them for their most successful season of the past few years.

The Mustangs showed an improvement of five games over last year's wins record. With high hopes and a relatively inexperienced team, they were quite satisfied with their season.

A major highlight of the season for the girls was the Cooper Invitational. They played teams from all over the state. Playing two highly ranked teams, the Mustangs won two out of the four matches they played. Another exciting highlight was winning both matches against archrival Irondale.

Team captains this year were Mary McCauley and Claudine Pardo. The girls' volleyball team ended their season with nine wins and eleven losses overall. "All in all the team got along well and worked hard for a winning season," stated co-captain Mary McCauley.

Skilled soccer team concludes with strong record

The 1982 boys' soccer season began in mid-August with day after day of seemingly endless practices which included: situation drills, killers, shooting drills, wind sprints, soccer volleyball, and a 12 minute run.

Though their record started out slow at four wins, three losses, and two ties, and their energy was low, the team's grueling practices paid off, and the boys aggressively attacked the second half of the season, proving their potential by winning eight more games, while losing three to finish with a strong record of twelve wins, six losses, and two ties overall.

A highlight of their season was emerging victorious over Washburn, the team rated fourth state-wide. Yet, after beating strong teams such as Spring Lake Park, Anoka, and Coon Rapids in region play, the Mustangs again encountered Washburn, this time falling 0-1 in the first round of the state tournament.

Coach Tom Schuh concluded, "The biggest asset of this year's team was its skill. It was definitely the best overall skilled team in the North Suburban Conference."

Strict swimming workouts produce top-notch team

Throughout their season, at 6:00 a.m. four mornings a week and an additional three hours every evening, the Mounds View girls' swim team could be found at the Chippewa pool, swimming lap after lap. "The girls usually swim 11,000 yards a day," affirms Coach Jim Brobin. (Eleven thousand yards is the equivalent to six and one-half miles, 208 laps, or 416 lengths of the pool.) "These girls are very dedicated," he continued, "to even be a mediocre swimmer you must work tremendously hard."

Brobin's strictly structured workouts have produced top-notch teams in previous seasons, and this year's team was no exception. Winning their first meet, the Conference Relays, was only the beginning of the successful eight wins, one loss dual meet record they would pave in their path to the conference championship and a strong fourth place finish at the State Swim Meet.

One of the team's closest, most challenging meets of the season was the 67-60 point victory they posted over Irondale. "It was really exciting," stated Junior Jenny Clark; "they could have won as easily as we did."

Sophomores, freshmen find shortcomings, success

The successes and the short-comings of the varsity teams at Mounds View are usually common knowledge. Mounds View's sophomore and freshmen teams, however, are equally dedicated and determined, though not as widely followed.

Coached by Greg Jacobson and Phil McManus, the sophomore football team, according to McManus, "tried hard, but just didn't do very well because of injuries." The team finished with one win and eight losses.

Concluding their season with eight wins and five losses, the sophomore boys' soccer team, "... has a lot of talent and contains some really good prospects," remarked Coach Bob Vennerstrom.

Though their final record was three wins and eight losses, the freshmen football team, coached by Sam Perkins and Mike Ruhland, "... worked hard and showed a lot of potential," commented Perkins.

Under the guidance of Irondale graduate and former All-State soccer player Jeff Dennehy, the newly instated freshmen boys' soccer team concluded their season with seven wins, two losses, and three ties.

1982 graduate Elly Lahr returned to Mounds View to coach the freshmen girls' soccer team. "The girls really improved and we accomplished a lot," Lahr stated. "We finished with only two losses."

The freshmen boys' basketball team finished their season with eight wins and eight losses overall. Yet, "Our record isn't indicative of the team's skill. We had a lot of talent and ability, but were plagued with illnesses," reflected Coach John Dornfeld.

Though the freshmen girls' basketball team's final record stood at three wins and twelve losses, Coach Chuck Urhammer exclaimed, "We all had a good time; it was a great bunch of people to work with."

Mustang hockey team faces off to tough season

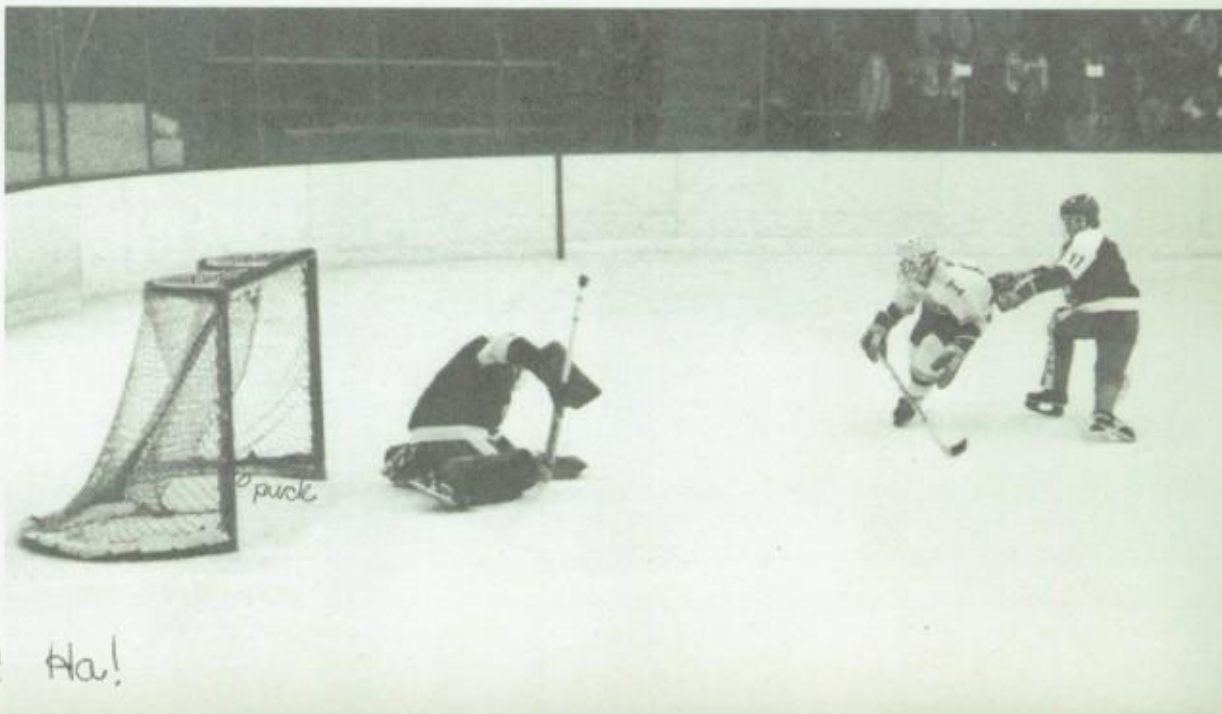

The Mounds View hockey team led by Dan Daly, first year coach, got underway with a victory over Mariner, defending state runner-up. The Mustangs also overcame Harding 6-2, capturing the consolation championship of the Minnetonka Tournament.

Originally the team's goal was to become conference contenders. The conference season, however, started off slowly, because of few returning lettermen and adjustments in practice routines which had to be made by both the players and the coaches. Their first round conference record was 2-6-1. In the beginning of second round action, however, the Mustangs got off to a good start, stampeding Spring Lake Park, Kellogg, Blaine, and Forest Lake. With their fresh start, the team's goal was to be the "team that took the worst conference record to the state tournament," claimed Coach Dan Daly.

"Getting along and working well together were characteristics of this year's team members," according to Captain Tony Patz. Hockey is a game of team effort and the Mustangs showed it. Practicing between one and four hours a day was part of the team's rigorous schedule. Weightlifting, studying films, and practicing on the ice were all included.

Unity, depth shoot team to conference victories

The girls' basketball team began working for its season long before November 8, the first official day of practice. Spending many hours over the summer working out at Mounds View, many girls participated in summer leagues and basketball clinics. As the season neared, the team sold candy bars, earning approximately $2200 for new warmups. "We all worked hard practicing over the summer, so we had a sense of team unity before the season had even started," explained Senior Co-Captain Mary McCauley.

Unity brought the young team far, carrying them through close games such as the 68-66 victory over Anoka in four overtimes. Posting a 17-3 record, Coach Bob Berg explained, "Overall skill, depth, and unselfish teamwork led to our success."

Their skill was apparent in such conference stand outs as Senior Mary McCauley who became the second Mounds View basketball player to join the 1000 point club.

Their season concluded in the region tournament where they defeated Forest Lake, but succumbed to Spring Lake Park in overtime.

Top rate swimmers fly through victorious season

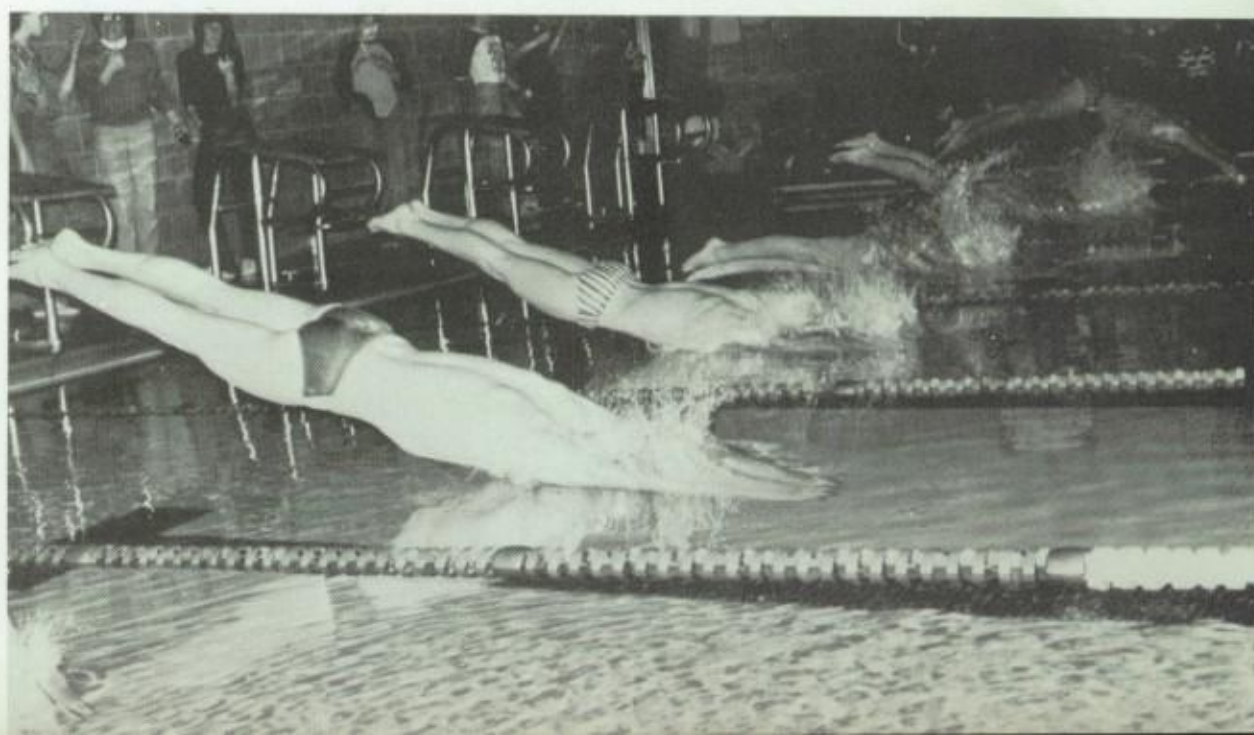

Once again the Mounds View boys' swimming team had an excellent season. For six days a week — often twice a day, the boys' swimming team worked toward its ultimate goal, winning the state meet. Rated first in the state for the entire season, the team, "... reached our goals and won the State meet," according to Co-Captain Mark Johnson. After every conference meet on their way to state, a number went up in the showcase indicating the number of conference wins. Not losing a conference meet since 1975, the accumulative record rose to 60 wins at the close of the season.

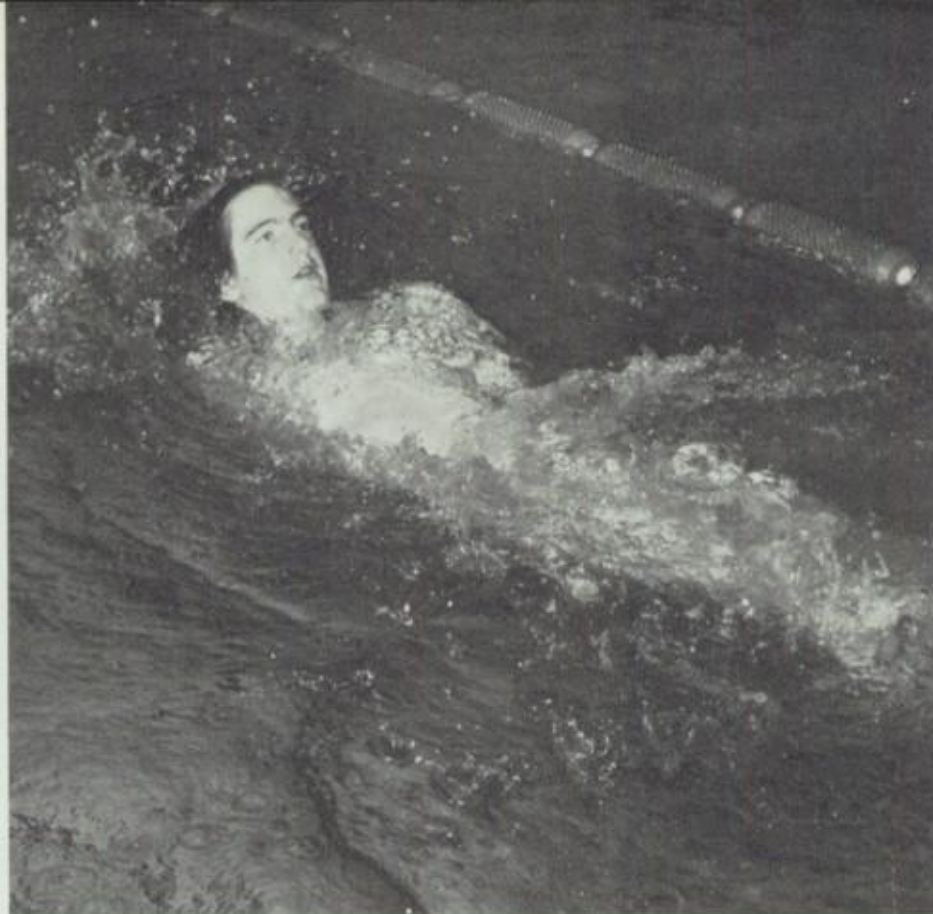

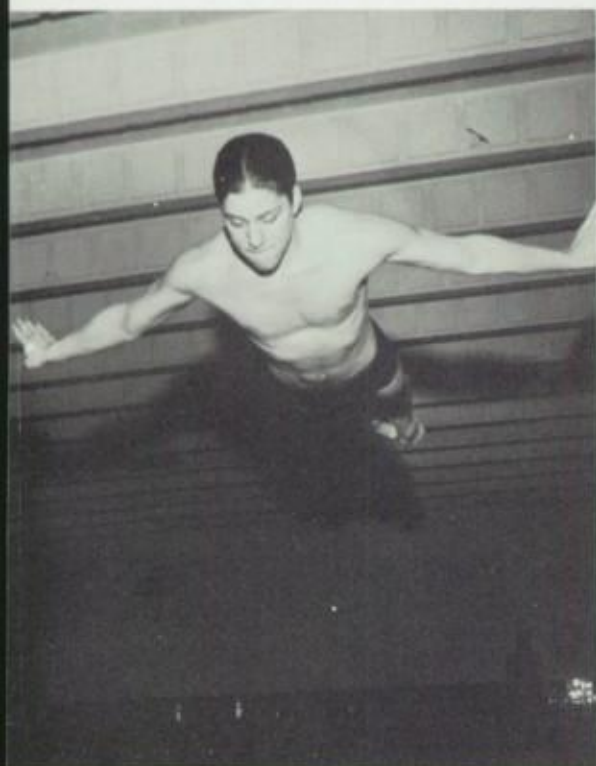

Contributing factors to the team's success were the outstanding coaches and dedicated swimmers. Coaches Jim Brobin, Dan Hess, and Diving Coach John Madura constructed workouts that led the Mustangs to victory. The well-rounded team consisted not only of a few excellent athletes but a company of top rate swimmers.

"Overall the team's unity and enthusiasm combined with our first class image has contributed to sustain our winning tradition," stated team member Doug Bloom.

Downhill skiers slalom through prosperous season

Though their season was delayed due to a slow delivery of bamboo gates, upon their arrival it was not long before the downhill ski teams were skiing in top form and smashing the gates to pieces.

With fifteen returning skiers, the 1983 ski teams predicted prosperous seasons. During their regular seasons, the boys skied to one first and four second place finishes, while the girls claimed three first and two second place titles. Though both teams were eliminated in the section tournament, Senior Pam TerEick reached the state tournament as an individual.

Numerous hours spent traveling to and from practices to ski run after run, course after course, developed a strong alliance between the downhill ski teams' members. "The members of this year's ski teams were amazingly close," affirmed Junior Brenda Cram. Through this mutual support and the guidance of first year coach Mike Post, both the girls' and boys' teams enjoyed prosperous seasons.

Wrestling team rebuilds; faces many challenges

The 1983 wrestling team encountered a rebuilding year with only three returning seniors. This meant that the team was forced to rely upon freshmen and sophomores with few years of experience. Despite outstanding effort and determination, the team could not overcome its lack of experience when facing several top-ranked teams in the state; they did not have the depth needed for consistent victories.

Also, the team suffered when they moved from the wrestling gym, where pictures of past teams and individuals inspired the team, to the cafeteria. The move "destroyed the team's unity and sense of tradition," explained Co-Captain Brian Leonhardi.

Despite these problems the team had a very exciting meet against Kellogg, when co-captain Mike Griffith pinned his opponent to win the meet 32-30. Next year's team holds promise with many returning juniors. The team finished tenth in regions and eighth in the conference. Brian Leonhardi placed third in regions, just short of a state-qualifying second place.

Gymnastics team flips over record-breaking season

The girls' gymnastics team had a very successful season, setting school records on the bars and vault, and earning an all-time high team score. The team relied on their experience and depth. For instance, Patty McCallum and Laura Sembrowich two All-American class gymnasts led their team to many victories with their high scores.

According to Coach Swanson, however, "A gymnastics team needs more than just a few outstanding individuals; it also needs depth and experience." The other members of the varsity team, many of whom had worked on private teams or with last year's varsity squad, provided these elements.

Also, the Captains DeAnne Hilgers, Patty McCallum, and Laura Sembrowich, as well as "the whole team worked together to uphold team unity and dedication which were essential for its victories," said Swanson.

The team finished second in their conference and went on to take second place in regions. Patty McCallum and Laura Sembrowich went to state as individuals. McCallum placed sixth on floor. Sembrowich placed sixth in all-around, seventh on floor, fourth on vault, and third on beam.

Cross country team glides through regions to state

He is aware of the hardly audible rhythmic swish of the skis against the snow. Pushing forward with one foot and stabbing forcefully down with the opposite pole, he propels himself down the seemingly endless trail of double track. He barely notices the overhanging trees on either side. Emerging from the woods, he sprints the final stretch and plunges through the finish gate . . .

This rigorous stride which the cross country team maintained, enabled them, for the third year in a row, to capture the boys' and girls' region titles. Senior Hillary Wackman also added individual region ski honors to the list of her accomplishments. The rest of the team was similarly successful, with three boys and four girls placing in the top five of their respective region faces. This qualified them to participate as individuals at the state competition. Junior Steve Kaliszewski placed twelfth in the meet, earning him All-State honors.

Cross country skiers were easily recognized during the season; they were carrying around boxes of World's Finest Chocolate. They used the $1100 earned in this fundraiser to hire Assistant Coach Gary Nygaard.

Young basketball team scores successful season

"The Mounds View boys' basketball team has enjoyed yet another successful season," exclaimed Coach Zig Kauls. Though their 6-14 win/loss record does not necessarily reflect an extremely successful season, the players, "were extremely dedicated. They all played basketball on summer leagues, and worked hard practicing and fundraising for the team," stated Kauls.

With merely two starters and two players with varsity experience returning for the 1983 season, the team "had about average abilities for a typical North Suburban Conference team," revealed Kauls.

"Many teams in the North Suburban Conference were evenly matched, so there were a lot of close games," explained Kauls. Early in the season the young team suffered narrow losses to Columbia Heights, Blaine, and an intense 43-44 decision at the buzzer to Anoka.

"We will probably finish in the middle of the pack for conference standings, but hopefully we can meet our goal and make it to the semi-finals and play in the Civic Center for regions," speculated Senior Co-Captain Jim Holm.

BEHIND THE LINES

Normal lives unknown to MV students

Students do not realize that teachers live normal, private, everyday lives just as they do. They tend to think that teachers are always teachers and not parents, husbands, wives, and friends. Teachers are loving, warm and wonderful just as we are.

Besides correcting papers, grading tests and lecturing, Mounds View teachers lead a life unknown to most students.

Spending time after school could mean rehearsing a play, advising a club, or chaperoning a ski trip . . .

Dave Magnuson rakes leaves.

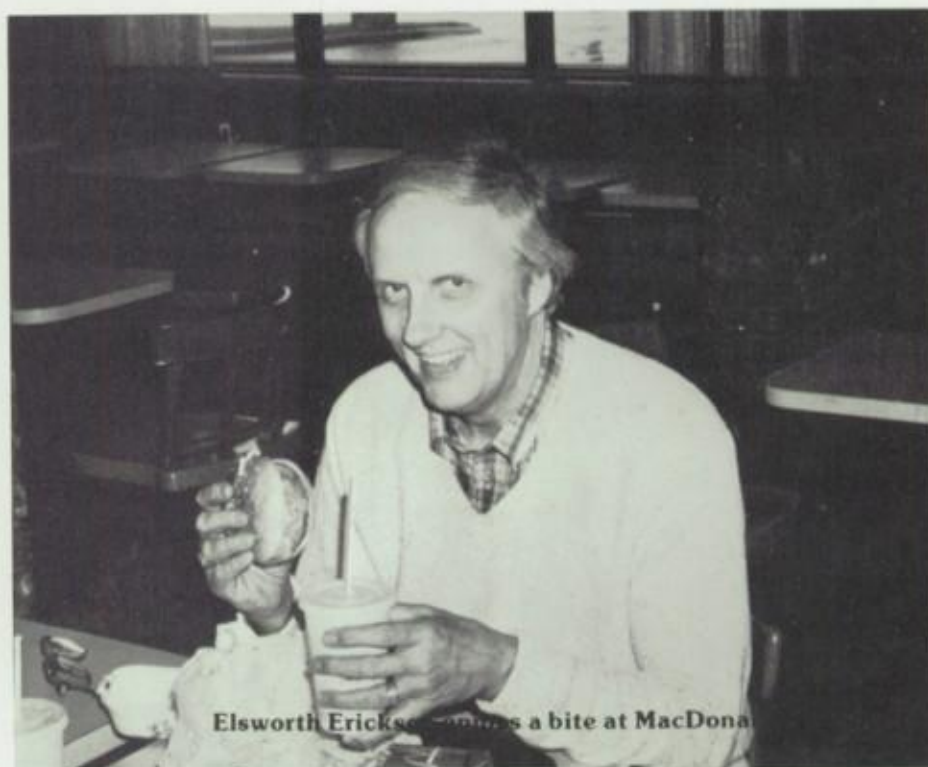

Kristen Dawson and Tom Weglietner snack at a teacher get-together.

Jean Rootsinoja visits at a volleyball competition.

Hank Ryan shops at Lund's on Sunday.

Elsworth Erickson enjoys a bite at MacDonald's.

Marilyn Miller leaves school after a busy day.

... Tom Weglietner and Kristen Dawson were part of a group of teachers called "10+5." These teachers sent cards and flowers to staff with birthdays or a special day and generally tried to keep up teacher morale.

Outside school teacher pastimes included raking leaves, grocery shopping, eating out, playing various sports, and all those other normal, everyday activities.

Many teachers who enjoyed being with kids, and needed the extra money, spent their time coaching sports, being at practices, and going to the games or competitions.

Leaders work behind scene

Establishing school policy, seeing that the school was run properly with plenty of books and supplies, and solving personal as well as disciplinary problems were the main concerns of the administration at Mounds View.

Their concern runs our school

Have you ever thought about what made Mounds View run so smoothly? There was always a lot of paper work to be done. It was just like running a large business: if one little thing went wrong, the whole cycle was thrown off balance.

A lot of the credit for the smooth running of our school goes to the office staff.

The Attendance Office was always a busy place with students needing passes, coming in late, and needing many other things that only the Attendance Office could handle.

The High School Office was where students went to see the Principal, teachers went to pick up their mail, and order supplies.

The Guidance Office staff did everything from helping to make counselors appointments to helping in career planning.

Without our wonderful and dedicated office staff, where would Mounds View have been?

Counselors aid students' future

Changing schedules, discussing colleges, and digging for scholarships were among the many things that took place in a counselor's office. Approximately eighty students per day stamped yellow counselors passes in the time clock and met with their counselor. Another approximately eighty, however, filed into the guidance office without appointments. These students used the guidance office for such things as signing up for SAT tests, obtaining information on college representatives' visits, and using the career center.

Ted Olson listens intently.

Answering telephones, checking passes, and collecting greenslips were only a few of Grace's numerous duties. Often found roaming the parking lot during lunch hour, Grace also served as an economizer. She generously helped students to save money by preventing them from spending $1.20 on Chicken McNuggets, 65¢ on an order of large fries and 45¢ on a small Coke at McDonalds . . .

. . . In daily competition with McDonalds, the Mounds View cooks under the direction of Arlene Debee, worked hard to create lunches that satisfied both nutritional guidelines and the Mounds View appetite. Besides menu items such as wiener winks, ravioli, and ham and cheese sandwiches, bag lunches, complete with Mounds View Mustang emblem were available.

Custodians were kept busy sweeping up these lunch bags from outside the library area where students often illegally congregated to feast. To maintain the building, it was necessary for three shifts of janitors, headed by Ron Tunell, to work around the clock scrubbing graffiti from bathroom walls, fixing broken lockers and performing countless other maintenance tasks.

Services help students adjust

Student Services were programs that were used to help kids with various problems and learning disabilities. The problems may have ranged from learning disabilities in math or English to just learning to adjust to people. This year three new teachers in these services were: Ileane Machyowski and Ilene Eilers from Johanna Jr. High, and Kathy Ries from Edgewood Jr. High. "By moving to Mounds View," Eilers said, "I was to keep many of my old students, so I knew their past problems and was better able to help them." . . .

Social Studies teach variety

Fourteen teachers taught in the Social Studies department this year. These teachers taught students everything from what donkeys and elephants represent to what Pygmies eat.

Fred Kunze, who taught freshmen Social Studies, along with three other teachers, held a traditional constitution bowl. This is a game where kids paired up in small groups and competed against each other for points and a trophy.

Confusion turns to comprehension

Calculators, compasses, and pencils were just a few of the tools that were found in the possession of math students at Mounds View. Our Math Department was a college-bound student's dream offering Geometry, Algebra, Trigonometry, Calculus, and computer classes at level A, level B, and independent study.

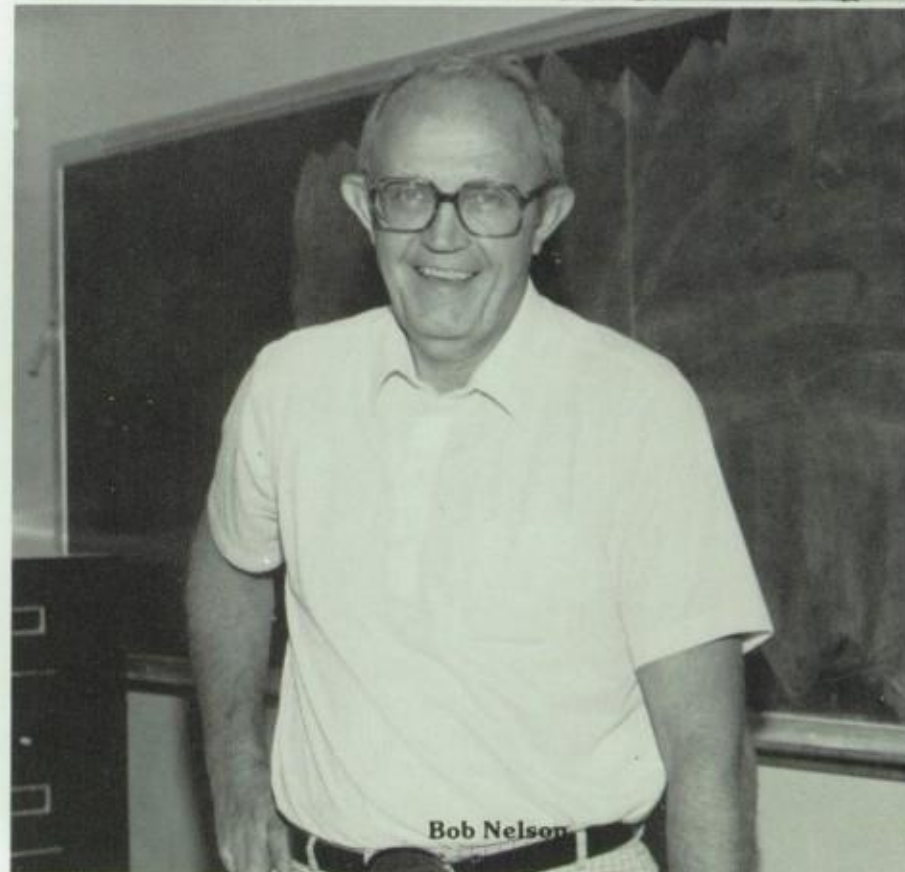

The eleven teachers who instructed these classes always made themselves available to help their students. These teachers often took time out from lunch or a prep hour or even stayed after school to help a troubled student out of confusion and into comprehension.

Horace Judson feels that "Science has several rewards, but the greatest is that it is the most interesting, difficult, pitiless, exciting, and beautiful pursuit that we have yet found. Science is our century's art."

Disecting cats, mixing poisonous chemicals, and gathering leaves and bugs are activities performed by science students. Biology, Physics, Chemistry, Physical Science, and Natural Science are classes offered to students by the science department.

Science classes offer many students an exciting challenge in the school day. Knowing the complicated functions of the body's organs, studying waves by working with slinkies in the hall, and observing light patterns through water all prove to be difficult, though interesting.

Changes abound in English Dept.

This year Language Arts was taught by 16 teachers, eight of whom were new to Mounds View this year. Also, many of the teachers who had taught here the year before taught different subjects this past year.

Mr. Coty was one English teacher who has taught a number of different classes at Mounds View. Mr. Coty said that he missed not having a few sophomore English classes this year. He would also have liked to teach poetry.

Another major change in the English Department was that the classes were a lot larger, thus putting a burden on teachers either to work a lot harder and to alter their curriculum.

A part of the curriculum that did not change was the Caesar Bowl. It began three years ago when four teachers, Mr. Coty, Linda Mars, Cay Donlin, and Kathy Recher got together. They decided that the 10th grade English students needed a little excitement in the "Julius Caesar" unit. The first year the Caesar Bowl was performed the students even wore togas! Said Donlin, "Caesar Bowl enhances the course and is a good way for the kids to review for the test."

Since then different teachers have taught 10th grade English, but they still hold the Caesar Bowl.

School work fashionable

This year Home Ec was taught by two teachers, Jean Ruotsinoja and Barb Berg. Various students in Ruotsinoja's clothing class said they liked the class because they could make whatever they wanted to make. Some choices picked by students were picture frames, stuffed animals, back packs, and, of course, clothing.

Foods was another option in the Home Ec Department. Here, the students got to experiment and make foods they had never made before.

Art breaks out

In order for creativity to be unleashed it must have a place to expand and grow. Mounds View's Art Department was just the place. The department offered Photography and Film Making at two different levels. Other classes included Illustrative Design, Art Survey, Senior Art, and Basic Art which is offered at any of six different levels. This wide selection of art classes enabled students to express a wide range of talents.

Music echoes in west wing

Sounds were heard echoing through the halls of Mounds View. Whether they were the jazz sound of a saxophone or the chants of a Latin song, they came from the west wing of the school near the tennis courts and B annex. This is the wing where the music rooms are located.

If students had an interest in an instrument, the Band, Jazz Ensemble, or Orchestra probably was just the course for them. An alternative to instruments was voice. Two different classes were offered in this area: Varsity Choir and Concert Choir.

Students interested in playing the drums or planning a singing career found a niche in the Music Department.

Phy ed releases student energy

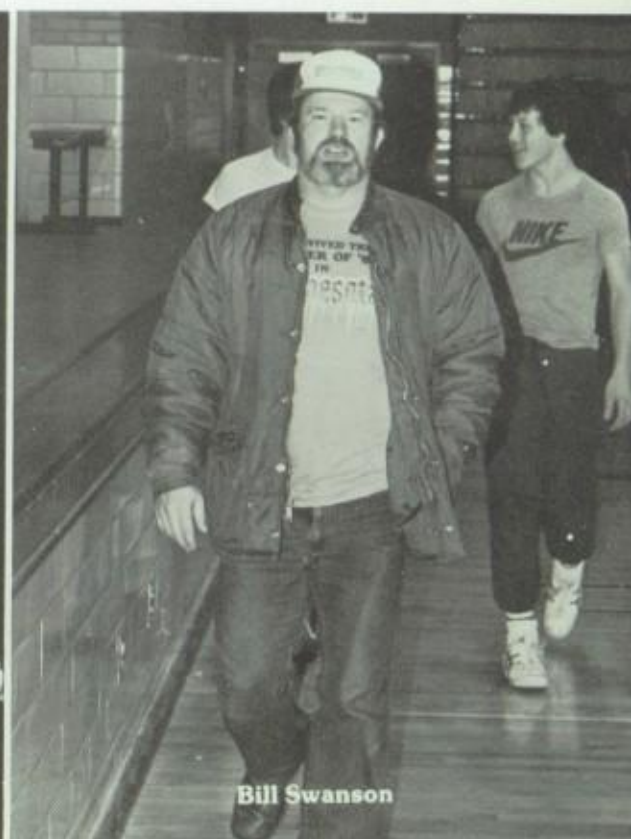

Football, soccer, gymnastics, weight lifting, climbing, and snowshoeing were activities offered to students in phy. ed. classes.

Phy. ed. was a requirement for all ninth and tenth graders and an elective for juniors and seniors. It was a nice break during the day to get outside or let some energy and tension loose.

Ninth and tenth graders were involved in individual and team sports while the juniors and seniors involve themselves in broomball, dancing, frisbee, and raquetball. Outdoor ed. taught survival, safety, rock climbing and outdoor cooking.

Librarian

Whether a student needed a place to read, to do homework, or just to relax in a quiet atmosphere, the library was the perfect place. Stocked on its shelves were a variety of magazines, newspapers, pamphlets and, of course, books. This enabled a student to find just about anything needed for any assignment.

In the library was located the audio-visual room. This was where the tape recorders, extension cords, video tape machines and other teaching aides were found.

EDITORS' NOTE: This year we got used to deadlines early by attending a yearbook seminar at St. John's University for five days in August. We learned a lot about how to put a yearbook together and discovered new techniques and ideas that we used in this year's book. This year we added captions and journalistic-style headlines, abandoning last year's labels. Also we developed our theme of life lines and the shock wave that went through Mounds View early, and we carried it through the book with copy, division pages, and graphics.

The St. John's workshop coordinators Karen Spinks, Hattie Steinberg, Anne Mueller, and Steve Wright all helped us get acquainted with the new methods, and by the time school started, we felt as if we had been writing captions all our lives. Just as in Publications class though, we had to take periodic breaks where we had our fun and games. We would like to thank Bernie Troje, yearbook advisor, for putting up with us when we did not always work our hardest and also for his loyal support.

We thank our staff for bearing with us as we taught them the new methods during what at best was a boring three weeks. We had some close calls at deadline time, but most of our staff was good about staying after to finish pages.

We would like to apologize to everyone for any inconveniences caused by the photographers and the staff. We hope everyone is pleased with the changes we have made. Finally, we hope we have portrayed an accurate account of the shock that went through Mounds View this year.

AFTER SHOCK '83

Tennis team practices success

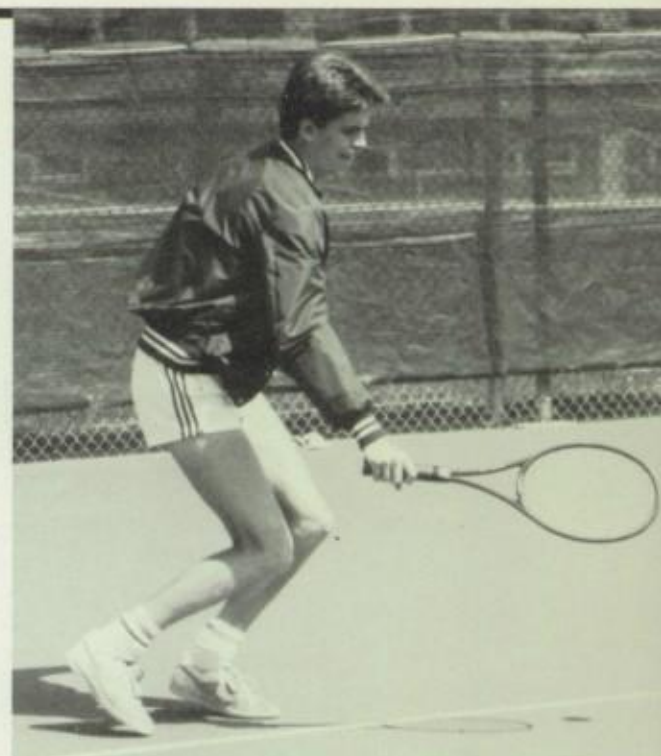

Led by Coaches Hank Ryan and Jim Brobin, the boys' tennis team had the most successful season in recent years. The team worked hard starting practice in early April. Workouts consisted of: T-drills, pronation, rope jumping, "dinkum doubles," and the famous three ball drill — all part of intense three hour practices.

The boys finished with seven wins and two losses in conference play, finishing alone in third place. Mounds View finished third in the Stillwater Invitational Tournament, ahead of two state ranked teams. The team was ranked seventeenth in the state coaches' poll.

Senior Co-captains Jim DeMay and Mark Herbranson provided great leadership for the team. Tom Trondson, junior, was named All-Conference.

The team was cooperative and hard working. "This is one of the nicest bunch of kids I've ever coached. They are talented. They're mature, and they have a good time," added Coach Ryan.

Reaching the region semi-finals, the team was then stopped by losing four matches to one to Coon Rapids. Concluding with twelve wins and three losses, their season was considered quite successful.

Dedication produces fine record

Because of the snow and rain the golf season began very late. Although the team did work on driving ranges, tryouts were not held until even later in the spring. The team consisted of eleven golfers and each played with great consistency. This consistency produced a record of eight wins and four losses.

Mounds View finished second to Anoka and Blaine in conference. They each had one loss, Anoka lost to Blaine, and Blaine lost to Mounds View. Mounds View had three other losses. This did not stop the determined golfers though. They finished second to Mahtomedi in regions, ahead of Anoka and Blaine. This shows that they came on very strong towards the end of the season.

Although they were not captains, Todd Davies and Byron Hay showed great leadership for the team. Todd and Byron were the only individuals from Mounds View that made it to the State Tournament. They both did very well. Todd finished twenty-third and Byron finished fifteenth.

"This was a very rewarding season," commented coach Tom Wegleitner; "The team was very dedicated, and they worked as hard at golf as any other athlete does at their sport."

Being a rather young and skilled team, the golfers have high hopes for next year.

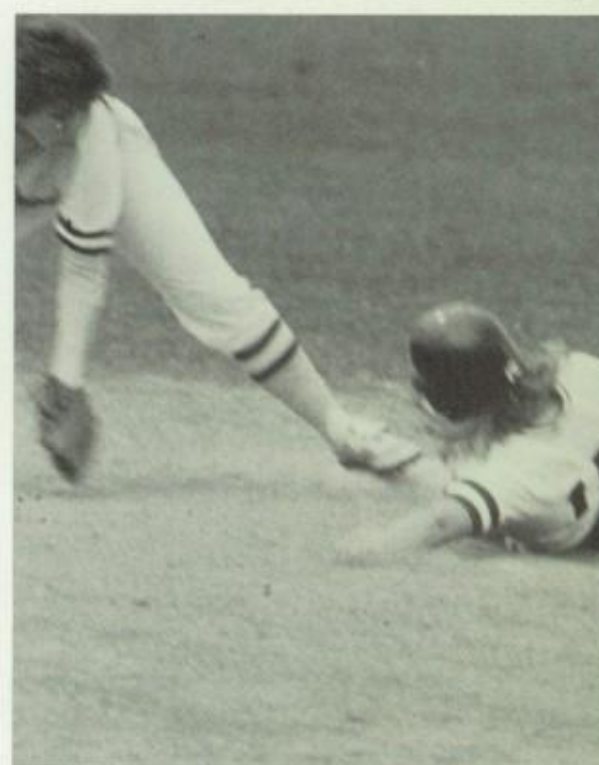

Young team has high hopes

The softball team's record does not show the skill the team really had. They began their practices indoors in early spring. Practices consisted of hitting and bunting in the batting cage, running, and practicing fielding and throwing in the gym. Because of poor field conditions the team was indoors longer than expected, but this did not thwart the potential the team really had.

This year's team was very young and will only be losing three starters: Mary McCauley, Lori McCutcheon, and Carol Thomas. Their record was three and six in conference play, but five of the six losses were by just one run. "We were in every game and could have very easily won them all," said pitcher Mary McCauley.

The team was led by Coach Liz Olson and Co-Captains Carol Thomas, Stacy O'Reilly, and Rhonda Sigsworth. The captains took on great responsibility by running practices from 2:30 to 3:45 at Perry Park. They succeeded in running these practices with the great cooperation of the team. This cooperation and a strong camaraderie will lead to a very successful team in the coming year.

Inexperience makes tough season

The 1983 baseball team was an inexperienced team. The record of the team does not show the amount of talent the team possessed.

The relationship between the coaches and the players was unusually close. The season started out slow because of bad weather, but they made the best of it by practicing in the gym.

The season competition gave this young team good experience for next year. No single person on the team dominated but numerous people contributed to the team.

The captains, Jim Stone and Kevin Daas, showed great leadership during practices and during the games.

The hard work and dedication was ever present in daily practices and games. This will pay off in the long run for the inexperienced team. Next year the team hopes will be a very promising season.

Five individuals reach state

The girls' track team had some very valuable people on it. In the coming year they have the potential to be very good. This year they were good even though they lost six of the nine last year state meet runners. Yet everybody was successful in her own way. Some achieved their best times, distances, or heights; others were good supporters by encouraging team members as they competed.

The team did not win many meets, but they had many firsts individually.

This year the team sold candy to get two new assistant coaches: Sam Perkins and Cece Torlouw. Both of them were of great help to the team. They had both experienced the track program at Mounds View. During practice they really made the runners work hard to perform on their highest level.

The practices differed with the type of distances. The short distance runners usually took a two minute warm up then ran some hills and did speed work on the track. The long distance runner ran anywhere from five to ten miles a day; it depended on the type of workout.

The team had many good runners individually. Sue Buttrey, Wendy Gamradt, Anne Hills, Sara Schropfer, and Patti Walsh did exceptionally well in regions and continued on to the state meet. Anne Hills received two first place medals. One of them was along with Sue Buttrey, Wendy Gamradt, and Patti Walsh in the 4x100 relay.

Team Region IV AA Runners-Up

The 1983 track team had three outstanding meets.

The Stillwater Pony Classic gave an indication of the depth the boys had as a team. They finished second out of sixteen teams.

The hard work and dedication of the seniors also showed up in the Carleton Invitational where they placed first out of eight teams.

The final highlight of the season came in the Region IV AA Meet. In this meet the underclassmen performed well and contributed to a second place finish out of seventeen schools.

The boys' track team was ranked in the top ten in the state the entire season. After the North Suburban Conference Meet the team was dropped from the rankings. They, however, defeated several of the ranked teams in the Region IV AA Meet.

Once again they were very team oriented with the senior captains leading the way. The captains were: Jim Anderson, Mark Lundquist, Scott Roach, and Paul Stewart. Their efforts helped the team considerably as the team depended on their leadership and dedication.

MV athletes receive awards

This year at the winter and spring sports banquets many fine athletes were honored. All the coaches gave short speeches about their teams. Athletic director, Leo Murphy presented the awards and letters. Cheerleaders and Viewettes also received recognition at the winter banquet. Among those specially honored were Mary McCauley and Scott Roach. They were named the Athletes of the Year.

Cheerleaders host Spring Ball

This year's Spring Ball was put on once again by the Mounds View Cheerleaders. The dance was held on April 9th in the school cafeteria decorated with flowers, balloons and streamers. The Spring Ball was catered by "To Your Health," and the band was "Heat Treatment." With more than 230 people present, the evening was a success.

'Birdie' version total sell-out

The Mounds View theatre department presented a contemporary version of the famed play, "Bye! Bye! Birdie," this spring. The play was presented on the evenings of April 13, 14, 16, and 17. The presentation is a musical story of a teen rock idol Conrad Birdie and his visit to the ordinary town of Sweet Apple, Ohio. With all nights sold out, the play was a great success. The performance scheduled for the 15th was cancelled because of an unexpected blizzard. The play cast consisted of thirty-one students. The play was directed by Emily Houpt, a former Mounds View student. Many people felt that it was the best play Mounds View has ever done.

1983 MV Prom 'Best of Times'

Prom '83 was held in the garden level of Town Square, downtown Saint Paul on Friday, May 13th. "Best of Times" was the theme of prom, and for many who attended the prom, it was the best of times. The junior class officers, Lisa Murakami, Patty McNamee and Kurt Schwabee organized and put on this year's prom. It was catered by "To Your Health" and served by the Sophomores. The music was by Jules Herman.

Seniors share 'last' breakfast

This year the Senior Breakfast was held in the cafeteria on Tuesday, May 31. Approximately 370 seniors turned out for this delicious breakfast of scrambled eggs, sausage, tater tots, cinnamon rolls, orange juice, and milk. Many prizes, ranging from pop to coolers to a small, portable stereo, were given away. Gary Pontinen won the portable radio.

► Janna Rogne enjoys a good laugh while waiting in the long breakfast line.

▼ Anne Leahy and Jenny Hoon discuss plans for the summer.

▼► Natalie Carlson and Dan Cokely begin their search for a table in the crowded cafeteria.

Graduates party at last stampede

Parents held the Senior Party at Apache Plaza again this year. The graduates arrived there after the ceremonies at Northrup around 10:00. They partied until 5:30 the next morning. Activities included Blackjack and bowling. Shawn McDonald, Mike Carter, and John Chirhart, who were hypnotized, were some of the seniors who provided entertainment for the crowd. Several prizes, including a 1976 Pinto won by Mark Johnson, were given away. Seniors had attended their last stampede.

MV graduates 28th class at Northrup

On May 31, 1983, Mounds View graduated its 28th Senior Class. This year commencement exercises were held in Northrup Auditorium on the U of M Campus.

Speaking at this year's ceremony were Senior Class President Linda Lerdahl, Dr. Jon Barber, chemistry and physics teacher, and John Fisher, social studies teacher. Graduation took on an added measure of class that hopefully will be repeated for years to come.

▼◀ Honor Society Graduate Sue Quigley accepts congratulations from Andy Otto, social studies teacher, as she descends the steps.

▼▼◀ Dr. Jon Barber tells the graduates to keep their dreams and fantasies alive throughout life.

Dr. Nygren, Mr. Leonard, honored guests, family, friends and fellow graduates . . . On behalf of the graduating class of 1983, I feel very honored to have the privilege to welcome you tonight on this special and memorable occasion. As we look back to our three years at Mounds View, we realize that we could not have made it without the understanding, encouragement, and love from our teachers, coaches, families, and friends.

Mounds View had something to offer everyone. We were not treated as parts on an assembly line; instead, we were allowed to grow and develop our own personalities. In addition to providing us with a good education, the faculty cared a lot about our feelings. The caring attitudes of our teachers helped blend over 500 of us into a tightly-knit class. I truly believe that our class, through the years, has acquired a willingness to work together and help each other out. We have melted into a unified, yet quiet, spirit. I'm sure we would all agree that the staff never overlooked our opinions and feelings; rather, they respected them and thus became a part of our class.

Although a close-knit class, we are unique individuals . . . each with different ambitions and goals. Always a part of us, our families perhaps know us better than we know ourselves. At home, members of our family are always available for consultation and advice. We can depend on them to encourage, support, and love us in the future as they have in the past.

For most of us, the friendships we have made at Mounds View will also remain with us for the rest of our lives. Our education would not have been complete without our friends. They were the ones who were there all the time — through thick and through thin. Our friends were there to laugh with, share with, cry with, and learn with. Through all our adventures and experiences, both good and bad, together we have learned to make our own decisions and become our own person.

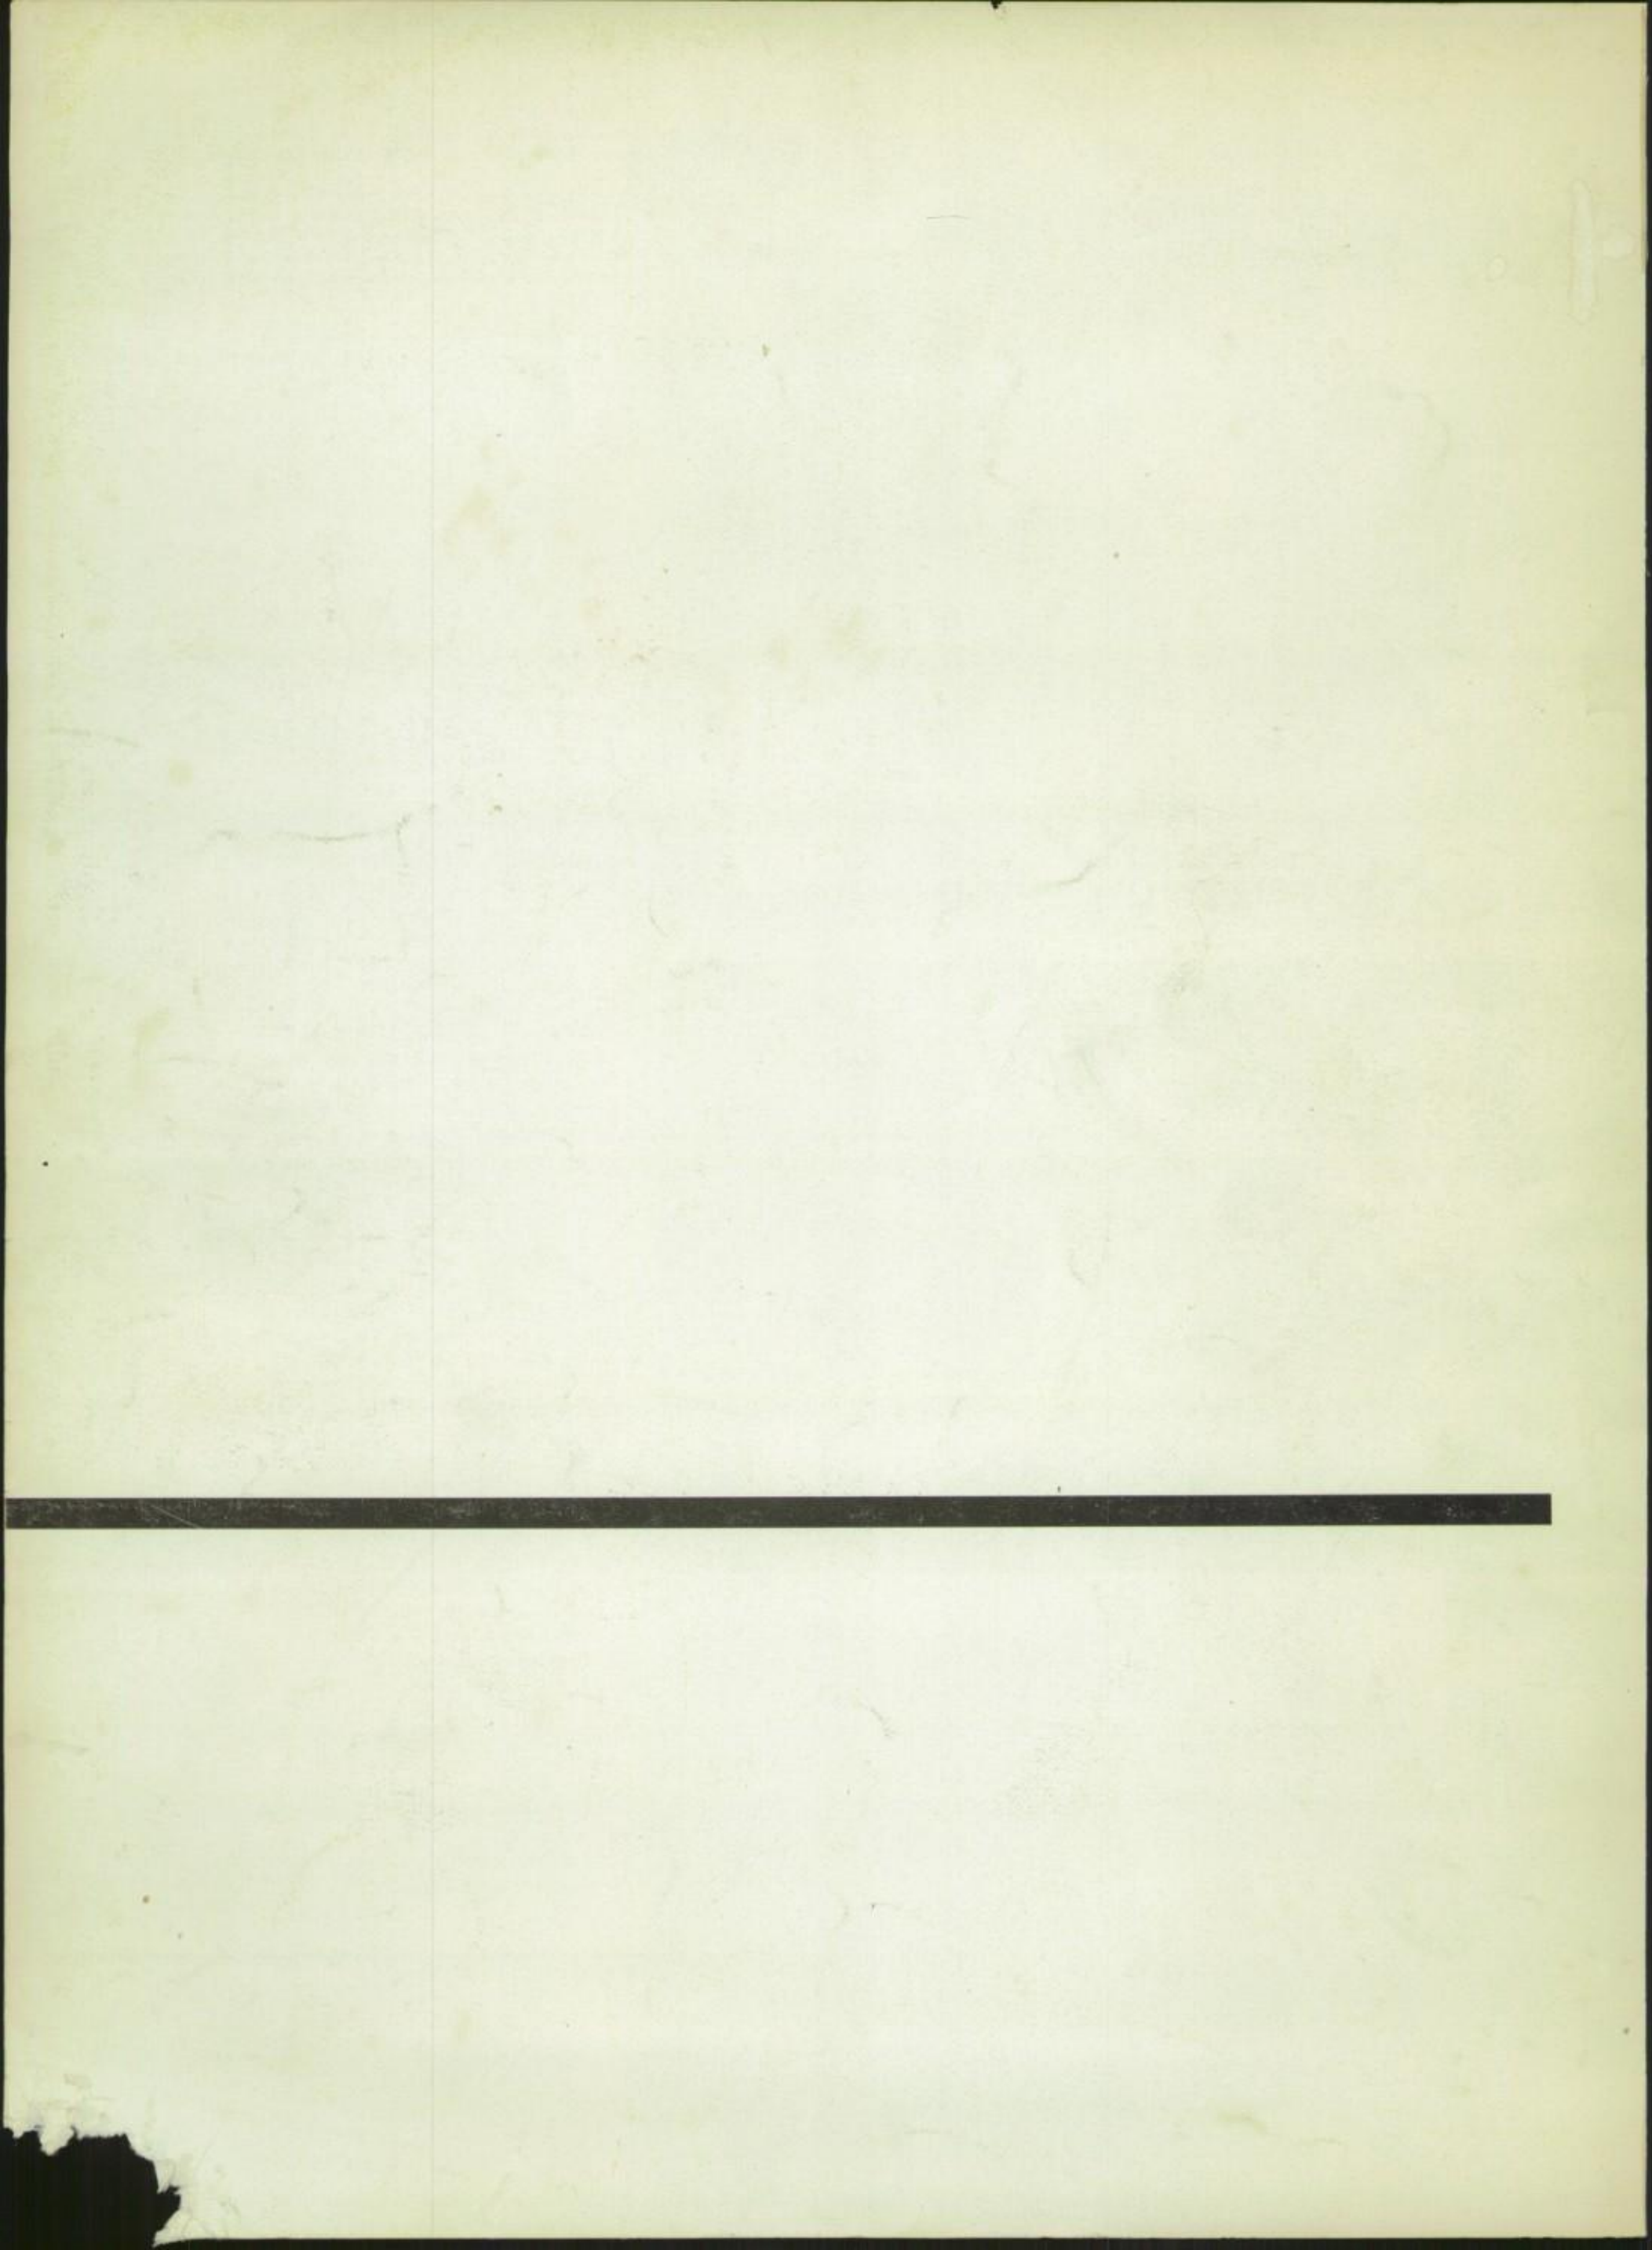

For the parents here, tonight may be the end of a 12 year dream. However, for us, as young adults, tonight is not an end but rather an introduction to the future. The valuable knowledge and education we have received here during these past three years has nurtured us and prepared us well to meet and solve future problems.

And finally, I'd like to take a moment to recognize each and every parent here tonight. Will the parents please stand at this time and be recognized for all you have done for us.

Thank you for the opportunity to speak to you and may God bless you all!

Linda Lerdahl

Greg, Sahli's class really sucked this year, I mean really boring,
I hope to see you this summer sometime see you next year hope to have you in some of my classes. Mike

Greg,

To earn a Varsity spot as a sophomore is an excellent accomplishment.
You've got the strokes, just keep playing and be great next year (the team). I'm planning on playing a lot over the summer and make up for this year, so I'd like to play you as much as possible. Call anytime you like (633-8638).

It was sure boring in Sahli, but we made it through. Hope we have some classes next year, and I'll see ya this summer.

Jim Kelly

Greg, we should well made a class. Greg Problems I don't know
we don't know how well you're doing. Maybe be in your chemistry class of you. Well, I can cheat off fun over the summer and don't go to many parties (and hr.)
for the first (and hr.)

Greg,
Well what can
I say, school sucks. But one good thing came out of it, you met me. (YK)
Good luck in tennis cuz I hear your pretty good. Give me a call and show
me how good you are!
Have a great summer.
Your friend
and mine,
Lonnex
